Recess Called Until Aug. 31

$633 Million School Bill Approved By Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Frustrated Ohio lawmakers ground out a record high $633 million school foundation bill Tuesday night but were unable to clear other obstacles and bring the seven-month session to an end.

Leaders surveyed a series of snarls just before midnight and agreed on a recess until Aug. 31, when final attempts will be made to resolve a few remaining major issues.

These include the year - old reapportionment problem, a $278 million capital improvements bill, and an embattled measure to establish municipal courts in Fremont, Mason, and Vermilion.

Legislative leaders will meet Friday for a skeleton session devoted to the signing of bills and other routine business. Next floor sessions will come on the 31st.

House Speaker Roger W. Cloud, R-Logan, announced that the House Rules Committee will recommend a reapportionment proposal to replace one defeated by voters in the May primary.

Ohio has been studying since about this time last year various plans to shape new legislative districts in line with the U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" edict.

The big school bill won unanimous approval in both houses after a joint conference committee molded it into one acceptable to but not to the complete satisfaction of both chambers.

It carried allocations of $108 million more than those for the 1963-65 biennium along with the administration's promised $200-a-year-pay increase for teachers. A $100-a-year hike for non-certificated school employes was added by the conference committee.

The measure also carries new teacher salary allowances which Sen. Oakley C. Collins, R-Lawrence, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, said may provide increases up to $700 for teachers in some of the lower paid districts.

The big capital improvements bill ran against a stone wall in the Senate after a conference committee deleted Senate amendments boosting funds for branch campuses and community colleges by $4½ million. The House approved the conference committee version.

Senate Democratic Leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas, said the bill would go to a new conference committee along with conference reports on one other bill and a resolution rejected by the upper chamber.

Republican Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Allen, sponsored the amendment which took funds from the Ohio Historical Society and a program for new county airports and transferred them to the community colleges and branches.

Democrats who joined Pepple to adopt the amendment Monday night rallied again Tuesday night to reject the committee report. Republicans, with the exception of Pepple, stood united against the shift in funds.

The House and Senate accepted conference committee reports on measures calling for a comprehensive study of Ohio's state and local tax structures and providing $90,000 for an alcoholism program in the State Health Department.

New conferees were named for the municipal courts bill after the first reported it was unable to agree.

Also pending in conference committee was a bill designed to help attract a $50 million Anheuser-Busch brewery to the Central Ohio area. It would permit licensing for on-premises sale of beer and alcoholic drinks reportedly asked by the company in a plan to attract visitors and tourists.

Three States Study Suits Seeking To Ban Poll Tax

By The Associated Press

Officials of Texas, Virginia and Alabama were examining government suits to abolish the poll tax today to determine what action to take.

In Texas, President Johnson's home state, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said he would file an answer after the necessary study and preparation.

Similar reactions were expressed in Virginia and Alabama.

The suits were filed by the Justice Department Tuesday, the same day federal examiners began registering Negroes to vote in nine Southern counties and parishes in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi.

A Civil Service Commission spokesman in Washington said that 1,144 Negroes registered to vote on the first day of federally supervised registration under the 1965 voting rights law.

Both the registration and the suits to abolish the poll tax are designed to make it easier for Negroes to vote.

At Austin, Tex., two federal attorneys delivered to the federal district court clerk a petition signed by U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach charging the 63-year-old poll tax requirement served only to limit voting rights, particularly those of Negroes.

Both Carr and Gov. John B. Connally said they wanted to study the petition before commenting.

Carr said last week, "It's my duty to defend the laws of Texas, and in the event the U.S. attorney general challenges their validity we will meet him in the courtroom."

Virginia officials generally had little to say after a similar suit was filed at Richmond. It clamed the $1.50-per-year tax was designed solely to restrict th electorate, particularly Negro voters.

Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. said recently the poll tax kept Virginia's elections clean by making sure only bona fide residents voted, and that a subistitute would have to be found if the poll tax was struck down. "When the people of Virginia want to repeal it, they have the right," he said.

Gov. George C. Wallace had no immediate comment after the filing of a suit in Montgomery, Ala. Other sources also were unavailable for comment and Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers was out of town. Alabama's poll tax is $1.50 per year and retroactive for two years.

In all three states the Justice Department asked that the cases be heard as soon as possible by three-judge courts. A similar request was made when the department filed suit against Mississippi's poll tax Saturday.

In the Voting Rights Act, Congress directed the attorney general to test the constitutionality of poll taxes. The act also provided for federal examiners to register Negroes.

The Civil Service Commission spokesman in Washington gave this breakdown of the county registration totals in each state:

Alabama: Hale 225, Marengo 97, Dallas 106, Lowndes 48.

Mississippi: Le Flore 113, Madison 209.

The spokesman said the new registration total represented a 65 per cent increase over the 1,764 Negroes previously on the registration rolls in the nine counties.

Federal registrars were not sent into Georgia. But Negroes continued to register in large numbers at Americus, scene of recent racial troubles which resulted in one death. In three days 1,004 Negroes registered, doubling Sumter County's Negro voting population.

Scores Test Flight Success

Model Spacecraft Fired At Make-Believe Moon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An Atlas - Centaur rocket scored a much-needed test flight success today and hurled a dummy payload toward a make-believe moon in a crucial rehearsal for an attempt late this year to land instruments gently on the moon.

The powerful rocket thundered away from Cape Kennedy on schedule at 9:31 a.m. EST on the start of the "paper moon" shot.

The flight control center reported 50 minutes later that the rocket had performed as planned and drilled the metal model of the Project Surveyor moonship onto the desired course at a speed of about 23,700 miles an hour.

An announcement said several hours might be required to determine the precise path but that tracking data indicated the rocket "was right on the money."

The bull's eye for the shot was an empty spot in space, about 240,000 miles and 63 hours away.

The target zone is on the path the moon follows as it orbits the earth, but about 30,000 miles from the moon's present position.

The space agency set the "paper moon" course to obtain trajectory data for an attempt scheduled in the last quarter of this year to land a Surveyor spacecraft gently on the lunar surface to determine if it is strong enough to support vehicles carrying astronauts.

The flight control center reported five minutes after launching that the second stage fired on schedule and the launch was proceeding smoothly at that time.

The practice mission had two major goals:

— It was the fifth launching of the Atlas-Centaur and was to determine the ability of its guidance system and hydrogen-powered second stage to send a payload the size of the 2,150-pound Surveyor on a precise path to the moon.

— Engineering data was sought on a dynamic model of the spidery Surveyor vehicle. The payload is a replica of the real thing and was wired to record temperatures, vibrations, strains and noise during the critical launching phase. It also

Girl, 2, Hurt When Brakes On Auto Fail

A Dixonville child was injured slightly when a car in which she was riding ran out of control down St. Clair Ave., striking another car and a building Tuesday afternoon at 4:40.

Police said Ruth Eileen Morris, 33, of Dixonville, the driver, reported the brakes failed near Gaston Pl. on St. Clair. As she neared the intersection of Lincoln Ave., she started sounding the horn to warn other motorists and pedestrians. At the intersection, the car hit another operated by Bernard Locke, 40, of 747 Avondale St., damaging the left rear section.

The car then went onto the sidewalk and hit the right corner of the Senate Cafe. The building was not damaged, although extensive damage resulted to the Morris car.

Little Red Resistance

Large South Viet Force Reaches Besieged Camp

Big Convoy Had Battled Three Days

Siege Persisting At Duc Co, Report Says Of Fighting

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. military sources in Pleiku reported a large Vietnamese relief force reached the besieged special forces camp at Duc Co tonight with little resistance from the Viet Cong.

A two-mile convoy of infantry and armored detachments had been fighting its way westward for three days through guerrilla ambushes and roadblocks in an effort to break the siege lines that have ringed Duc Co since June 3.

How many of these troops may have been involved in the final push was not disclosed. But at the last previous report all were within six miles of their goal, a western outpost 220 miles northeast of Saigon on a strategic cross-country highway.

The highway, Route 19, runs through the central highlands from the supply port of Qui Nhon on the South China Sea, to the Cambodian frontier at a point five miles west of Duc Co.

A dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett in Pleiku said that, despite the troops' closing push, the seige persisted.

The Viet Cong were reported to have moved in behind the relief force and again cut Route 19, the only land route to government-held territory, in several places.

Both government forces and the Viet Cong have suffered heavy casualties in the fighting in and around Duc Co, whose neighboring villages are all flying Viet Cong flags.

U.S. sources in Pleiku, the corps headquarters 30 miles northwest of Duc Co, said "We have been waiting for weeks for permission to clear the Viet Cong out of this natural highway from Cambodia into Viet Nam. We have enough forces there now to try and do the job."

The road column reportedly met little resistance as it moved into Duc Co in heavy fighting Tuesday and Monday. There were many casualties and the Viet Cong succeeded in splitting the armored part of the column from an infantry task force.

The airstrip at Duc Co was still judged unusable late today, U.S. sources said. There were hopes that by Thursday the relief forces would have cleared a sufficient area around the strip to permit supplies to be sent in.

U.S. spokesmen said they had no reports of clashes Tuesday night after bloody battling that left at least 219 Viet Cong and 60 South Vietnamese troops dead.

But large forces remained in the area. An air survey showed

Investigations Under Way At Missile Site

Erratic Safety Devices Held Cause Of Silo Blast

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Deep in an underground silo sheathing a Titan 2 missile something went awry with the safety devices.

An explosion and flames thundered through the "gun barrel" of the missile complex Monday afternoon, killing 53 civilian workers.

"These things are not supposed to happen," said Capt. Douglas Wood, public information officer for Little Rock Air Force Base, headquarters for the 18 missile sites in this region.

"We have many safety features, but the fact that it did happen contradicts these safety factors."

Heading an Air Force investigation ordered by President Johnson is Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert.

Zuckert and Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., were due to arrive at the Little Rock airport today and head to the complex 10 miles northwest of Searcy.

An Air Force investigation team also is continuing its probe, begun after about 100 rescue workers finished the task of removing bodies from the smoke-filled 155-foot-deep silo.

There were only two survivors of the blast and flash fire which apparently erupted somewhere on or around the second or third levels of the nine-level complex where the workmen were renovating the site.

The missile, loaded with liquid fuel, was in the silo but did not burn. There was no danger of a nuclear explosion, Wood said, because the warhead had been removed while the construction crew was working on the complex. The Titan 2 is America's mightiest ballistic missile.

Wood said the complex is equipped with devices to monitor the temperature and humidity in the silo. He said the humidity must be kept "quite low" and the ideal temperature is around 60-65 degrees.

High temperature and humidity over lengthy periods would increase the pressure in the complex, he said.

Increased pressure could cause the missile's fuel to expand, creating the possibility of an explosion, Wood said.

The temperature reached 85 degrees in the silo Monday evening after the blast and Air Force officials considered venting — or releasing — some of the fuel.

The escaping fumes are toxic and newsmen were cleared from the area for a four-hour period.

The temperature began dropping, however, and the Air Force decided against venting, Wood said.

The missile is equipped with a spray system which functioned when the fire erupted. Wood said "that explains the water at the bottom of the silo."

The tragedy was the worst in the history of the Titan 2 system, which includes 54 complexes that have been operational since December 1963.

Senate Okay Expected On Cabinet Bill

Would Establish Housing, Urban Development Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bill to create a cabinet department of housing and urban development comes up for a final vote in the Senate today. Passage is considered certain.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield won an agreement to limit the remaining debate on the bill which he said should bring passage by midafternoon.

Sponsors estimated about 55 to 60 of the 100 senators would support the high-priority administration measure in the showdown test.

But they were sufficiently concerned about the absence of 10 of the bill's backers Tuesday to delay the vote 24 hours.

The 11th Cabinet department that would be created by the bill is intended to deal with the increasing problems of urban areas in a country which is composed more and more of city and suburban dwellers.

The core of the new department would be the existing Housing and Home Finance Agency headed by Robert C. Weaver. If Weaver should be named to the secretaryship, he would be the first Negro to serve in the Cabinet.

The Senate adopted two amendments to the bill Tuesday, both accepted by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., floor manager for the measure.

The more important amendment, offered by Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., long-time chairman of the Senate housing subcommittee, was designed to preserve the functions and status of the Federal Housing Administration.

Sparkman's amendment would assure that FHA will be maintained as an administration in the new department, headed by a commissioner nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate.

Cook Still Unaccounted For

Problem Of Jurisdiction Posed In 5 Ship Deaths

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Seven Seas, a swaybacked old banana boat whose last cargo was murder, has been unburdened of one mystery.

But two others remain: Who has jurisdiction in the case, and what happened to the ship's cook?

Federal authorities said a crewman picked up Tuesday in the Gulf Stream in the Seven Seas' skiff told them he shot the captain and four shipmates after an argument with the skipper about Fidel Castro.

Roberto Ramirez, 35, a former Cuban lobsterman, told officials he had defended the Cuban leader and that Capt. Rogelio Diaz threatened to turn him over to anti-Castro refugees when the Seven Seas reached Tampa, where it was headed for repairs after leaving Miami.

It was either "me or them," officials quoted Ramirez as saying. They said he told them he shot the captain and stalked aft to shoot four other shipmates one by one as the vessel chugged southward Saturday night. Three were killed as they slept.

Ramirez said he threw the body of the captain and another shipmate overboard and then left the ship in the 14-foot aluminum skiff. He was found by a German freighter about 60 miles south of here drifting in the skiff, a 38-caliber pistol in his belt with a baby-food jar full of spare bullets. Fired shells of similar caliber were found on the Seven Seas.

Ramirez was brought to Miami in custody of U.S. immigration authorities where the matter of jurisdiction must be determined.

If it is decided the Seven Seas, registered under the Panamani-

Cuba Executes Three Cited As CIA Agents

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Three men charged with being agents of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency were executed by firing squads in Cuba, Havana Radio said today.

The executed men were identified as Roberto Fernandez Cobo, Raul Pereira Castaneda and Roger Sabino Sopena, all crew members of the Cuban freighter "Gonzalez Lines."

The broadcast, monitored here, said men were trained to use incendiary devices, radio transmitters and secret writing materials.

The executed men were charged with being especially trained to obtain military, economic and political information and report it to the CIA, according to the broadcast.

Fog, Tides, High Winds Face Manry

FALMOUTH, England (AP)— A fog, high wind and tides plagued Robert Manry today as he neared England on his epic sailing adventure across the Atlantic.

The 48 - year - old Cleveland newspaperman was last seen two days ago 290 miles out and headed northward. It was believed he had two objectives:

1. To avoid the busy shipping lanes as much as possible, and

2. To borrow some favorable wind for his 13½ - foot sloop Tinkerbelle.

A coastline fog this morning slowed down shipping off lands end and discouraged any private attempts to meet Manry.

British Naval officials said the American probably was buffeted Tuesday night by winds up to 45 miles an hour, but they pointed out he has come through much rougher stuff since he left Falmouth, Mass., on June 1.

Manry originally estimated he

Three States Study Suits Seeking To Ban Poll Tax

By The Associated Press

Officials of Texas, Virginia and Alabama were examining government suits to abolish the poll tax today to determine what action to take.

In Texas, President Johnson's home state, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said he would file an answer after the necessary study and preparation.

There were only two survivors of the blast and flash fire which apparently erupted somewhere on or around the second or third levels of the nine-level complex where the workmen were renovating the site.

The missile, loaded with liquid fuel, was in the silo but did not burn. There was no danger of a nuclear explosion, Wood said, because the warhead had been removed while the construction crew was working on the complex. The Titan 2 is America's mightiest ballistic missile.

Wood said the complex is equipped with devices to monitor the temperature and humidity in the silo. He said the humidity must be kept "quite low" and the ideal temperature is around 60-65 degrees.

High temperature and humidity over lengthy periods would increase the pressure in the complex, he said.

Increased pressure could cause the missile's fuel to expand, creating the possibility of an explosion, Wood said.

The temperature reached 85 degrees in the silo Monday evening after the blast and Air Force officials considered venting — or releasing — some of the fuel.

The escaping fumes are toxic and newsmen were cleared from the area for a four-hour period.

The temperature began dropping, however, and the Air Force decided against venting, Wood said.

The missile is equipped with a spray system which functioned when the fire erupted. Wood said "that explains the water at the bottom of the silo."

The tragedy was the worst in the history of the Titan 2 system, which includes 54 complexes that have been operational since December 1963.

Cook Still Unaccounted For

Problem Of Jurisdiction Posed In 5 Ship Deaths

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Seven Seas, a swaybacked old banana boat whose last cargo was murder, has been unburdened of one mystery.

But two others remain: Who has jurisdiction in the case, and what happened to the ship's cook?

Federal authorities said a crewman picked up Tuesday in the Gulf Stream in the Seven Seas' skiff told them he shot the captain and four shipmates after an argument with the skipper about Fidel Castro.

Roberto Ramirez, 35, a former Cuban lobsterman, told officials he had defended the Cuban leader and that Capt. Rogelio Diaz threatened to turn him over to anti-Castro refugees when the Seven Seas reached Tampa, where it was headed for repairs after leaving Miami.

It was either "me or them," officials quoted Ramirez as saying. They said he told them he shot the captain and stalked aft to shoot four other shipmates one by one as the vessel chugged southward Saturday night. Three were killed as they slept.

Ramirez said he threw the body of the captain and another shipmate overboard and then left the ship in the 14-foot aluminum skiff. He was found by a German freighter about 60 miles south of here drifting in the skiff, a 38-caliber pistol in his belt with a baby-food jar full of spare bullets. Fired shells of similar caliber were found on the Seven Seas.

Ramirez was brought to Miami in custody of U.S. immigration authorities where the matter of jurisdiction must be determined.

Fog, Tides, High Winds Face Manry

FALMOUTH, England (AP)— A fog, high wind and tides plagued Robert Manry today as he neared England on his epic sailing adventure across the Atlantic.

The 48 - year - old Cleveland newspaperman was last seen two days ago 290 miles out and headed northward. It was believed he had two objectives:

1. To avoid the busy shipping lanes as much as possible, and

2. To borrow some favorable wind for his 13½ - foot sloop Tinkerbelle.

A coastline fog this morning slowed down shipping off lands end and discouraged any private attempts to meet Manry.

British Naval officials said the American probably was buffeted Tuesday night by winds up to 45 miles an hour, but they pointed out he has come through much rougher stuff since he left Falmouth, Mass., on June 1.

Manry originally estimated he

Senate Okay Expected On Cabinet Bill

Would Establish Housing, Urban Development Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bill to create a cabinet department of housing and urban development comes up for a final vote in the Senate today. Passage is considered certain.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield won an agreement to limit the remaining debate on the bill which he said should bring passage by midafternoon.

Sponsors estimated about 55 to 60 of the 100 senators would support the high-priority administration measure in the showdown test.

But they were sufficiently concerned about the absence of 10 of the bill's backers Tuesday to delay the vote 24 hours.

The 11th Cabinet department that would be created by the bill is intended to deal with the increasing problems of urban areas in a country which is composed more and more of city and suburban dwellers.

The core of the new department would be the existing Housing and Home Finance Agency headed by Robert C. Weaver. If Weaver should be named to the secretaryship, he would be the first Negro to serve in the Cabinet.

The Senate adopted two amendments to the bill Tuesday, both accepted by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., floor manager for the measure.

The more important amendment, offered by Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., long-time chairman of the Senate housing subcommittee, was designed to preserve the functions and status of the Federal Housing Administration.

Sparkman's amendment would assure that FHA will be maintained as an administration in the new department, headed by a commissioner nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate.

Fuse Grows Shorter On Cyprus

The Greek government crisis, which has left the country without a premier for nearly four weeks, has helped fan the embers of a smoldering feud between the Greek and Turkish communities on Cyprus. The burden for peace-keeping there now is on the U.N. Security Council.

Temporarily freed of traditional restraints from the mainland, President Makarios of Cyprus was able to maneuver a new law through the House of Representatives which wipes out all constitutional guarantees of Turkish representation in the island Parliament.

THIS MOVE to strip Turkish Cypriots of their representation apparently is part of the enduring efforts by Makarios to achieve a union with Greece. Greek Cypriots outnumber the Turks almost 4 to 1 and the result of this latest move, if it succeeds, would be an island governed and controlled completely by the Greeks.

Although the situation has not yet approached the explosive proportions of the 1963-64 conflict, it involves the same issue that led to British occupation of the island last year amid widespread fighting and bloodshed.

While the crisis remains in abeyance before the Security Council, the internal conflict in Greece has shortened the fuse on volatile Cyprus.

With Athens now unable to exert a restraining influence on Makarios, the Security Council is under increased pressure to resolve the dispute or at least maintain an uneasy status quo.

ITS TASK has been complicated by the uncompromising attitudes of both sides.

Greek Cypriots contend any resolution from the Security Council will represent unwarranted interference in the island's internal affairs.

On the other hand, Turkey has authority by treaty to intervene directly if the Turkish minority is threatened and it has reasserted its readiness to do so.

The dangers in this crisis should not be underestimated becaue, if unchecked, it will involve not only Greece and Turkey but the U.N., NATO and Great Britain as well.

Hollow Victory For Pepple

In a remarkably short-sighted display of logrolling and porkbarreling, Senate Finance Chairman Ross Pepple, R-Allen, has wrung a hollow victory out of his efforts to juggle appropriations from the $278 million capital improvements bill.

By dealing with Democrats in the evenly divided Senate, People managed to chop appropriations for two projects promised by the Rhodes administration in order to increase allocations for branch universities and community colleges.

HIS GOAL, which he has since denied, was to grab more money for his own pet project—an Ohio State University branch at Lima for which $3.3 million already has been appropriated.

But now that the logs have been rolled and the pork has been slopped into the barrel, what does it all mean?

First of all, the capital improvements bill represents nothing more than an authorization for spending state funds in the next two years.

Secondly, before any of the higher education funds can be spent, the Ohio Board of Regents and the State Controlling Board must stamp their approval on the requests.

Since both those agencies are controlled by the Rhodes administration, and since Pepple openly crossed the administration, it seems highly unlikely that the appropriations he rammed into the bill will be worth any more than the paper they're written on.

FINALLY, and this is something politicians lose sight of when they're confronted with money bills, any funds that aren't spent by June 30, 1967, will lapse and will have to be reappropriated in the next biennium—and not necessarily for the projects originally outlined.

When you figure that the state still hasn't spent all the funds from the $250 million capital improvement bond issue of 1963, it is absurd to expect it to run through an additional $278 million in less than two years.

Our less than momentous conclusion from all this is that Sen. Pepple's main accomplishments in this display of fiscal frenzy were to discredit himself in the eyes of his GOP colleagues and to place his continued service as Senate Finance chairman in jeopardy.

Another Silver Crisis

The great silver famine which has had this country in a dither for months finally is making it tough for Nevada's one-armed bandits to make their customary haul, according to a recent Associated Press dispatch from Las Vegas.

The situation in Nevada's gambling casinos is described as so critical that they may have to get a dietary supplement—tokens—to augment their intake of silver.

Several of the plush hotel-casinos already have given up on dollar slots and removed them from their premises. At other places silver dollars are issued only under a "gentlemen's agreement" that all winnings, if any, will be converted from "cartwheels" into folding money.

The AP disptach goes on to report that a survey of southern Nevada casinos showed a serious shortage also of half dollars and a decline in the supply of quarters.

Casino owners believe the coin shortage will continue until the U.S. Mint begins distribution of the new alloy coins in December.

In the meantime, the state's Gaming Control Board chairman has gone to Washington to get a ruling from the Treasury Department on the use of tokens in slot machines.

No doubt the Great Society will come up with an Appalachia solution to save the "Silver State's" 23,000 coin - starved slot machines from malnutrition.

Johnson's Secrecy

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Whether he's in a bathrobe or a rose garden, President Johnson loves to surprise when he names a man for a big job.

And secrecy about the announcement before Johnson makes it! That's become a byword at the White House.

It goes so far that even those closest to Johnson, like Bill D. Moyers, his very able press secretary, sometimes appear left in the dark about who's getting the prize.

While this technique saves an appointee the embarrassment of public speculation about his merits for a job before he gets it, it also assures Johnson the maximum publicity.

But so far the men Johnson has picked for the highest government posts have met with wide approval. And so have most of those he's named to jobs a notch or several notches lower.

Sometimes Johnson may delay for months in making up his mind, which might indicate he has searched everywhere for suggestions on the best possible man and then slowly winnowed the possibilities.

But there are times when he apparently decides in a hurry, which he seems to have done in the case of Abe Fortas whom he appointed to the Supreme Court, although since Fortas was his friend and helper for 30 years there was plenty of time to figure the right place for him.

When Robert F. Kennedy resigned as attorney general last September to run for the Senate, his No. 2 man, Nicholas Katzenbach, took charge of the Justice Department.

Katzenbach seemed a likely choice for Kennedy's job. He was an able lawyer, a legal scholar, a former professor of law at the University of Chicago, and he has made a name as a fighter for civil rights.

But Johnson delayed for months. Then on Jan. 28 he invited Katzenbach and his wife to dinner at the White House.

Katzenbach said later the President was ill in bed with a cold but got up, put on a bathrobe, joined his guests and Mrs. Johnson at dinner, and there broke the news to Katzenbach that he would be the new attorney general.

Perhaps Johnson searched for advice before picking a successor to Adlai E. Stevenson, who died July 14, as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations. But on July 20 he named Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg.

In doing so, Johnson combined drama and surprise for the greatest possible publicity mileage. There had been a multitude of guesses about the new ambassador, but nobody seemed to have thought of Goldberg.

At about 10:30 a.m. on the 20th, reporters were led into the White House rose garden to watch Johnson greet some U.S. ambassadors back from Africa for consultation.

When this was over Johnson turned back to his office, saying over his shoulder to the newsmen: "I'll be back in a moment." And he was.

But with him he had Goldberg, Mrs. Goldberg, and their son, Robert. Then Johnson announced Goldberg had "accepted the call of duty," given up his lifetime seat on the Supreme Court and would be the new ambassador.

The next question: Who'd get Goldberg's place on the court? Some of the guesses had the job going to a woman, to a Negro, to Fortas, and to others. Fortas was the most often mentioned.

The day after Goldberg's appointment, Moyers was asked about Goldberg's successor. He said: "I have seen all the names quoted in the press and I don't think any of those are names that the President is giving consideration to."

Then Johnson chose his nationally televised news conference on July 28 to say he had picked Fortas.

It has been reported that Johnson asked Fortas, a famous lawyer with long experience in government, to take Goldberg's job within an hour or so after asking Goldberg to go to the United Nations.

The Story Of Operation Strangulation

By Victor Riesel

RIO DE JANEIRO

At my side now are two stevedores whose names had been posted on a special death list by Communists in charge of Operation Strangulation several years ago. The men, Claudio Falcao and Carlos Pinto, port union leaders, had attempted to stop the Communist drive to cut the jugular lifeline of Brazil, our mammoth Latin ally.

Victor Riesel

The Communists virtually succeeded in paralyzing the harbors of 4,000 miles of coastline but were stopped by the military anti-Communist revolution early last year. Yet the full story of Operation Strangulation has never been told. And it should be reported so leaders of other nations and the working people of other lands always can have before them as a warning the Sino and Soviet blueprint for action.

USING TERROR, black mail, bribery, frameups and brilliant organizational maneuvers, the centrally - directed Communist agents easily captured the maritime, dockside and transportation unions. The ultra-leftists then were in a position to bankrupt Brazil. The stratagem was simple: Make it too costly to ship anything into this vast oceanside nation. Since there was comparatively little industry, the nation would go bankrupt.

No technique was overlooked. Here are a few: There was, for example, "vershame"—shame pay. This meant that the Communist longshoremen would get extra big compensation when their dignity was hurt by being ordered to unload toilet bowls or other bathroom fixtures.

There was rain pay. If it rained, the Communist stevedores by the thousands would go home, but would get a full day's pay. This ran into millions of dollars a year, because the rains are heavy during certain seasons.

The longshoremen also had a rain spotter. He would stand by, especially on cloudy days and announce it had rained. It was his word against the authorities. The spotter always won. Off the men would go. And a full day's pay would go even to those who worked in sheds and offices where they could not get wet unless they had installed a shower.

THERE WERE thousands of stretched - out slowdowns and "solidarity" strikes. I have a report before me disclosing the heavy cost of one such walkout in support of a locomotive engineer.

Remember, this was but one of thousands of "solidarity" stoppages. He had been fired and arrested for highballing down the track while drunk. Also he had taken pot shots at small way stations as he whizzed by them. Word went out and dockworkers, bus drivers and airline employes as well as railroad hands quit work.

Communist union chiefs would suggest that port authority officials buy modern loading machinery. Millions were spent on special lifts, belt systems, etc. After the equipment arrived, the Communist labor officials told their men not to touch it. Thus even today, 17 months after the revolution, the machinery is around in such quantities that it can only be slowly salvaged from the rusting piles.

This so discouraged foreign shippers they began avoiding Brazil's ports all the way from the far south to Manaus away up on the Amazon. But the Communists did not mind seeing their people laid off. They simply went to the pro-Communist national government and got heavy subsidies for the port authorities to keep paying the idle longshoremen their regular wages.

AND JUST BEFORE the military revolution crushed the Communists, the virtually bankrupt Brazilian government was losing $850,000 a day on the ports.

Those non-Communist government officials and military and navy men who objected were hit hard by P.U.A.—Pacto Unidade Acao (Unity Action Pact) organized by the Communists.

This was a central agreement for coordinated action of the Communist - controlled airlines unions, railroad workers, port hands and bank employes. Its central committee grew so powerful that it actually named members to the cabinet of ousted pro-Communist ex-president Joao Goulart and could remove generals and admirals.

Then came the anti-Communist revolution. The Communists had been expecting the revolt. They reckoned they had their hands tightly around all jugular arteries—even the communications lines. When the military men attacked the then President Goulart, the Communists ordered the union telegraphers to stay on the job so distant troops loyal to the left wing could be contacted. But when Goulart fled, the Communists ordered the telegraphers to send out a call for a general strike.

HOWEVER, then a young anti-Communist union official—one of the few still in office—organized a band of men who took over the National Communications Center here and drove out the Communists. He is Romulo Marinno, one of the men trained by the American Institute for Free Labor Development — a joint labor-management porject in the U.S.

Today the military government is permitting free unions to organize and hold democratic elections. My friend Claudio Falcao, who was on the Communists' death list, now is chief of the Department of Transport for the Port of Rio. Carlo Pinto is his assistant. They've increased the Rio port income by 50 per cent in one year. Other harbors are swinging into shape. Wages are going up. Brazil, now at our side on the world front, is recovering from the bankruptcy which the Communists had planned to use as a lever for popping themselves into power.

But the above is prelude. The Communists are back again operating underground. They never take a holiday.

A New 'Constitution

By David Lawrence

Congress Assumes Additional Powers

The United States of America apparently has a new "constitution," though it has never been submitted by Congress to the States of the Union for ratification or rejection. The structure came into being nevertheless with the assumption by Congress of the powers enumerated in the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and now further enlarged by the Voting Rights Act signed on Aug. 6, 1965, by President Johnson. The new "constitution" declares, in effect, that, with or without the approval of the President, Congress may at any time make laws based on the following "findings" or conclusions:

David Lawrence

1. Congress possesses the power to pass a law requiring a prescribed "racial balance" in public schools and directing that pupils shall be transported from one school to another irrespective of residence in a particular school district.

2. Congress possesses the power to require that each school shall have a specified percentage of Negroes, Protestants, Catholics and Jews, based on census statistics in a given area.

3. Congress possesses the power to order the removal of any school superintendent or members of any school board who do not conform to the orders of the U.S. Department of Justice in taking the steps deemed necessary by the federal government to eliminate what it considers a form of discrimination. Federal school superintendents or special "examiners" could be sent out to various districts to correct "racial imbalance" in any school.

4. CONGRESS POSSESSES the power to order federal funds withheld from a state as a whole or from any county or city therein whenever the statistics are interpreted by Congress as indicating a suspicion that discrimination by reason of race or color or religion may have occurred in the employment practices of a contractor, subcontractor or supplier of products or services having any connection with government contracts which cover public works or any other federal project.

5. Congress posseses the power to order the suspension of all tests or other methods used in qualifying would - be voters whenever the statistics can be construed to mean that there appears to have been a "racial imbalance" in the number of persons voting—as, for instance, when less than 50 per cent of residents of voting age registered or voted in 1964. Congress has the power to alter at will the required proportions.

6. Congress possesses the power to make a "finding" and then require every residential-building project — or single-family home—financed or insured directly or indirectly by the federal government or its mortgaging agencies to be inhabited by a certain racial or religious ratio in a given area.

THE FACT that Congress in the 1964 Civil Rights Act did specifically forbid the correction of any "racial imbalance" in the public schools does not mean that Congress has in any way surrendered the right to impose such rules whenever it feels they are desirable. Rather, this confirms that Congress feel it now possesses the power to correct at any time by federal law what it may decide is "racial imbalance."

Much of the new "constitution" will be enforced, as it already has been, by executive order and without any law of Congress. The President, for instance, now is being asked by Negro leaders to correct an alleged "racial imbalance" at the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, and the other service schools for training officers.

Also, while threats to withhold federal funds are at present confined to areas within a state and to particular projects, the right to exercise such powers more broadly is considered to be inherent in the new "constitution." Indeed, Vice President Humphrey, in a speech last May, issued this warning to the nation's school boards:

"The choice is simply this: to continue receiving federal aid and desegregate or to sacrifice federal aid and desegregate anyway."

THE THEORISTS who have evolved the ned "constitution" have argued ever since the New Deal that the method of changing the original Constitution as prescribed in that document is "too difficult" and "time-consuming" and that, if an objective is meritorious, it doesn't matter what means are used.

This concept, in effect, assumes that it is right to alter any signed contract without the consent of the other parties to the agreement. This is but another way of saying that "the end justifies the means."

A Supreme Court majority in the last few years has already concurred in some of the basic principles of the new "constitution" and in various decisions has rationalized these fundamental concepts as in keeping with the spirit of the times.

This trend now can be reversed only by electing someday a President and a new majority in Congress dedicated to the original Constitution and to the amending process it has specifically prescribed for the making of changes in the law of the land whenever desired by the people.

Fuse Grows Shorter On Cyprus

The Greek government crisis, which has left the country without a premier for nearly four weeks, has helped fan the embers of a smoldering feud between the Greek and Turkish communities on Cyprus. The burden for peace-keeping there now is on the U.N. Security Council.

Temporarily freed of traditional restraints from the mainland, President Makarios of Cyprus was able to maneuver a new law through the House of Representatives which wipes out all constitutional guarantees of Turkish representation in the island Parliament.

THIS MOVE to strip Turkish Cypriots of their representation apparently is part of the enduring efforts by Makarios to achieve a union with Greece. Greek Cypriots outnumber the Turks almost 4 to 1 and the result of this latest move, if it succeeds, would be an island governed and controlled completely by the Greeks.

Although the situation has not yet approached the explosive proportions of the 1963-64 conflict, it involves the same issue that led to British occupation of the island last year amid widespread fighting and bloodshed.

While the crisis remains in abeyance before the Security Council, the internal conflict in Greece has shortened the fuse on volatile Cyprus.

With Athens now unable to exert a restraining influence on Makarios, the Security Council is under increased pressure to resolve the dispute or at least maintain an uneasy status quo.

ITS TASK has been complicated by the uncompromising attitudes of both sides.

Greek Cypriots contend any resolution from the Security Council will represent unwarranted interference in the island's internal affairs.

On the other hand, Turkey has authority by treaty to intervene directly if the Turkish minority is threatened and it has reasserted its readiness to do so.

The dangers in this crisis should not be underestimated becaue, if unchecked, it will involve not only Greece and Turkey but the U.N., NATO and Great Britain as well.

Hollow Victory For Pepple

In a remarkably short-sighted display of logrolling and porkbarreling, Senate Finance Chairman Ross Pepple, R-Allen, has wrung a hollow victory out of his efforts to juggle appropriations from the $278 million capital improvements bill.

By dealing with Democrats in the evenly divided Senate, People managed to chop appropriations for two projects promised by the Rhodes administration in order to increase allocations for branch universities and community colleges.

HIS GOAL, which he has since denied, was to grab more money for his own pet project—an Ohio State University branch at Lima for which $3.3 million already has been appropriated.

But now that the logs have been rolled and the pork has been slopped into the barrel, what does it all mean?

First of all, the capital improvements bill represents nothing more than an authorization for spending state funds in the next two years.

Secondly, before any of the higher education funds can be spent, the Ohio Board of Regents and the State Controlling Board must stamp their approval on the requests.

Since both those agencies are controlled by the Rhodes administration, and since Pepple openly crossed the administration, it seems highly unlikely that the appropriations he rammed into the bill will be worth any more than the paper they're written on.

FINALLY, and this is something politicians lose sight of when they're confronted with money bills, any funds that aren't spent by June 30, 1967, will lapse and will have to be reappropriated in the next biennium—and not necessarily for the projects originally outlined.

When you figure that the state still hasn't spent all the funds from the $250 million capital improvement bond issue of 1963, it is absurd to expect it to run through an additional $278 million in less than two years.

Our less than momentous conclusion from all this is that Sen. Pepple's main accomplishments in this display of fiscal frenzy were to discredit himself in the eyes of his GOP colleagues and to place his continued service as Senate Finance chairman in jeopardy.

Another Silver Crisis

The great silver famine which has had this country in a dither for months finally is making it tough for Nevada's one-armed bandits to make their customary haul, according to a recent Associated Press dispatch from Las Vegas.

The situation in Nevada's gambling casinos is described as so critical that they may have to get a dietary supplement—tokens—to augment their intake of silver.

Several of the plush hotel-casinos already have given up on dollar slots and removed them from their premises. At other places silver dollars are issued only under a "gentlemen's agreement" that all winnings, if any, will be converted from "cartwheels" into folding money.

The AP disptach goes on to report that a survey of southern Nevada casinos showed a serious shortage also of half dollars and a decline in the supply of quarters.

Casino owners believe the coin shortage will continue until the U.S. Mint begins distribution of the new alloy coins in December.

In the meantime, the state's Gaming Control Board chairman has gone to Washington to get a ruling from the Treasury Department on the use of tokens in slot machines.

No doubt the Great Society will come up with an Appalachia solution to save the "Silver State's" 23,000 coin - starved slot machines from malnutrition.

Johnson's Secrecy

WASHINGTON

Whether he's in a bathrobe or a rose garden, President Johnson loves to surprise when he names a man for a big job.

And secrecy about the announcement before Johnson makes it! That's become a byword at the White House.

It goes so far that even those closest to Johnson, like Bill D. Moyers, his very able press secretary, sometimes appear left in the dark about who's getting the prize.

While this technique saves an appointee the embarrassment of public speculation about his merits for a job before he gets it, it also assures Johnson the maximum publicity.

But so far the men Johnson has picked for the highest government posts have met with wide approval. And so have most of those he's named to jobs a notch or several notches lower.

Sometimes Johnson may delay for months in making up his mind, which might indicate he has searched everywhere for suggestions on the best possible man and then slowly winnowed the possibilities.

Much of the new "constitution" will be enforced, as it already has been, by executive order and without any law of Congress. The President, for instance, now is being asked by Negro leaders to correct an alleged "racial imbalance" at the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, and the other service schools for training officers.

Also, while threats to withhold federal funds are at present confined to areas within a state and to particular projects, the right to exercise such powers more broadly is considered to be inherent in the new "constitution." Indeed, Vice President Humphrey, in a speech last May, issued this warning to the nation's school boards:

"The choice is simply this: to continue receiving federal aid and desegregate or to sacrifice federal aid and desegregate anyway."

THE THEORISTS who have evolved the ned "constitution" have argued ever since the New Deal that the method of changing the original Constitution as prescribed in that document is "too difficult" and "time-consuming" and that, if an objective is meritorious, it doesn't matter what means are used.

This concept, in effect, assumes that it is right to alter any signed contract without the consent of the other parties to the agreement. This is but another way of saying that "the end justifies the means."

A Supreme Court majority in the last few years has already concurred in some of the basic principles of the new "constitution" and in various decisions has rationalized these fundamental concepts as in keeping with the spirit of the times.

This trend now can be reversed only by electing someday a President and a new majority in Congress dedicated to the original Constitution and to the amending process it has specifically prescribed for the making of changes in the law of the land whenever desired by the people.

Wants Pressure On Soviet

Goldberg Finds Congress Stubborn About UN Fees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg is finding in Congress strong opposition to any abandonment of efforts to force Russia to pay United Nations peace-keeping assessments.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said that as he interprets the sentiments of his colleagues they are "getting real tired" of temporizing on the issue.

France and 11 other nations also are in arrears on peace-keeping assessments. But congressional and other U.S. critics of the situation usually limit their fire to the Soviet Union.

Dirksen, who conferred with Goldberg privately, was asked at a news conference Tuesday if the administration was retreating from its position that the Russians must pay or lose their vote in the U.N. General Assembly.

He replied that so far as he was concerned he was thinking in terms of retaliation rather than retreat.

"We can foreshorten our contributions and aid to the U.N. and its agencies," he said. "After all, money talks. We are free agents to do as we choose."

Dirksen added he thinks the United States should call for a showdown in the United Nations.

"There is no use kidding ourselves or kidding the world," he said.

Goldberg described as "not accurate" a published report that he would agree to shelve Article 19 of the U.N. Charter which says countries two years arrears in payments shall have no vote in the Genreal Assembly. The report said that after the Soviets were allowed to vote they would make a voluntary contribution to the peace-keeping fund.

"This matter is still under discussion and our position will be explained fully and clearly when the committee of 33 convenes on Aug. 16," Goldberg said. The 33-nation committee was set up to study the no dues-no vote situation.

State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said the U.S. position on Article 19 was under review.

Russia, France and the other 11 nations have refused to pay for U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo, the Middle East or both. The 11 are Belgium, South Africa, Yemen, Cuba, Byelorussia, the Ukraine, Albania, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland and Romania.

The Soviet Union is about $60 million in arrears and would have to pay about $22 million to get off the two-year list covered by Article 19. France owes about $16 million and would have to pay about $1.5 million to get off the listing.

Prizes will be awarded for the best fire truck, best emergency truck, oldest truck, best comic group and the unit traveling the farthest. All bands will receive cash prizes, Wilson said.

Proceeds from the carnival will be used for payments on a new $13,000 John Bean truck.

The parade will be led by Fire Chief Tony Brandonisio and Mayor Stanley Fitch.

Deaf Man Perfects Hearing Aid Without Batteries

If you can hear people talk and can't make out the words clearly, then this will be your answer. An extremely small hearing aid with permanent built-in power cell has been invented by a man who is himself hard of hearing and has been for 10 years. With his new aid, even whispers are crystal clear and your closest friends will never know how you hear so perfectly. Plus you never have to buy batteries ever.

To acquaint the public with the latest strides in the hearing aid industry we are giving actual size, non-operative samples which are smaller than the human eye. These will be given FREE of charge to those who send the attached coupon. The hearing aid sample for your ear will be sent in a plain package. Wear it in the privacy of your own home at no cost. You may keep it free of charge.

This type of aid is what people who hear but do not understand have been waiting for since hearing aids were invented — nothing outside your ear — no wires—no plugs.

This sample will be sent on first come, first served basis. Clip now before you forget.

River-Lake Road Phases Speeded

Construction of a 6½-mile section of the "Lake - to - River Highway" in the Canfield area will get under way in January, the Ohio Department of Highways has announced in setting bid dates for five new sections of Route 11 linking East Liverpool and Ashtabula.

Bids will be opened Dec. 21 for the Route 11 section between Route 224 and a mile north of Route 18, west of Youngstown.

Highway Director P. E. Masheter said the project should be launched after Jan. 1.

FOUR SECTIONS of the new highway have been completed three on Route 46 in Ashtabula County and one Route 30 section at East Liverpool, with a second Route 30 section north of Route 170 now under construction.

This second section, which will extend to Apples Corners, will cost $3.4 million and include five bridges.

When completed, the $80 million, 90-mile highway will be a four - lane, limited access stretch from Lake Erie to the Ohio River.

Six bridges are included in the Canfield area project which will cost an estimated $6.3 million.

Next on the agenda for contract letting is an 8-mile section between Route 307 and existing Route 46 in Ashtabula County early in 1966.

Total cost, including right of way, has been estimated at $5 million for the eight miles. Most intersections initially will be at grade level, with right of way purchased for future separation structures.

FOUR ADDITIONAL SR 11 projects with a total length of 25 miles are scheduled to be placed under contract in 1966 at an estimated cost of $22.3 million. They will connect Ashtabula and Columbiana counties.

Bid openings on the four sections are scheduled for these 1966 dates:

June 14 in Trumbull County, 5.3 miles, including nine bridges from Route 80 to Route 82.

Aug. 9 in Trumbull County, 11.4 miles, which include one railroad grade separation with two bridges between Route 82 and Route 88.

Aug. 23, a 2½ mile project from the Columbiana County line to Routes 14-46.

Sept. 7, in Mahoning County, 6 miles from Routes 14-46 to Route 224.

The new highway will connect with I-80S west of Youngstown.

Four projects, one each in Ashtabula and Trumbull counties and two in Columbiana County, have not been scheduled for bid opening.

an flag, was within the three-mile U.S. continental limit, Florida probably will have jurisdiction. If the slayings occurred outside the limit, either Panama or the United States could prosecute, as the Seven Seas is American owned.

Still missing is the ship's cook, Gerald Davison. Authorities said Ramirez told them he had not shot him.

The Seven Seas seemed almost a recreation of a grade B South Pacific thriller when she was spotted Sunday, a drifting derelict. Years ago a graceful schooner, her masts had long since been taken out and replaced by a crude superstructure. Her port holes were sealed, her steel hull caked with gray paint.

Coast Guardmen found two bodies in bunks in the crew's quarters and a third body on deck. A track of blood led from the pilot house to the railing.

A 17-year-old Honduran crewman, Elvin Burywaise, who said he had seen one of the shootings, was found in the stifling darkness of the vessel's anchor chain locker where he had cowered for 16 hours. The seaman said the ship apparently had been headed towards Cuba after the shootings until the diesel engine stopped.

Meanwhile, the Seven Seas lay at a Coast Guard dock in Key West, where she had been towed. A grimy Panamanian flag flapped from her stern. Behind the wheel-house a pair of faded dungarees and a T-shirt were pinned to a clothes line, long since dried in the tropical sun.

Nut Gives Clue To Strong Glass

NEW YORK — The growing strength of glass bottles and jars stems from a crack in a walnut shell.

A young scientist several years ago observed that walnuts don't always start to crack at the point where the nutcracker is applied. Sometimes the crack started somewhere else. He had seen approximately the same thing happen to glass bottles and jars — cracks starting at a location remote from the point of impact of a sharp blow.

The scientist working under sponsorship of the Glass Container manufacturers Institute, embarked on a series of studies to find out just why bottles do fail.

These studies have led to the design of bottles and jars that are a third lighter and yet stronger than their predecessors of just a few years ago.

Viet Nam

Viet Cong flags flying from every village surrounding Duc Co.

The battle began when the Viet Cong tried to cut through the middle of the two-mile-long relief convoy from Pleiku. They destroyed two tanks, one armored personnel carrier and two trucks.

U.S. advisers said they counted 153 Viet Cong dead after the ambush. An additional 66 Viet Cong were reported killed by government forces in the area around Duc Co.

In addition to at least 60 government troops killed along the road, more were killed in attacks on the Duc Co camp by Viet Cong mortar, recoilless cannon and recoilless rifle fire. fire.

The dead and wounded in the beleaguered camp had not been evacuated by late Tuesday because no aircraft could land.

Several hundred Vietnamese troops and mountain tribesmen along with 12 American advisers in the camp have been under heavy fire for more than two months. But Tuesday night was reported quiet at the camp —five miles from the Cambodian border on Route 19, the east-west highway through the central highlands.

U.S. spokesmen said 40 guerrillas were killed and two captured in other ground actions reported today.

In the Mekong Delta, south of Saigon, the Viet Cong continued harassment of government outposts, watchtowers and district towns in Chuong Thien Province. Nineteen installations have been hit by mortar or other fire in the past seven days.

Two outposts and a district town were attacked Tuesday night. Government casualties were termed light at one outpost and none was reported at the other two installations. Viet Cong casualties, if any, were not known.

A U.S. briefing officer said the series of light attacks appeared to be static harassment rather than a buildup for heavier assaults. He added that they had not been of sufficient intensity to draw reaction forces so far.

U.S. spokesmen said U.S. and Vietnamese planes destroyed more than 120 buildings in South Viet Nam during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. and "large number" of Viet Cong were believed to have been killed.

One U.S. Air Force F105 was lost today in an air strike against North Viet Nam, but the pilot, Capt. Lawrence D. Wilson of Cleveland, Ohio, was reported picked up unharmed from the South China Sea off Vinh. An Army helicopter rescued him within 10 minutes, spokesmen said.

Officials reported these other raids into North Viet Nam today:

Three Skyraiders from the carrier Oriskany damaged the Xom Bang barracks area 15 miles north of the border, and three barges five miles farther north.

Three other Skyraiders destroyed one building and damaged two others in a ferry complex in the Xom Bang area.

Two Skyhawks from the Oriskany attacked a billeting area 65 miles southwest of Hanoi, destroying two buildings and damaging a barge nearby.

Four Skyhawks supported by four other planes struck the Son La barracks and supply depot 125 miles west of Hanoi. Pilots reported 12 buildings destroyed and said they left two large fires.

Vietnamese government casualties climbed last week, while those of the Viet Cong dropped, according to a summary released by U.S. military authorities; but twice as many Viet Cong dead were reported.

The summary reported 940 government casualties during the week ending Aug. 7 as compared with 815 the week before.

Viet Cong casualties were put at 585; they were reported as 857 the previous week.

On the government side the breakdown was 265 killed, 575 wounded and 100 missing or captured.

Military And Weapons Reviewed For Rotary

Bennett D. Taylor of Lisbon, executive for the Columbiana County Council, Boy Scouts of America, discussed "Wearing the Two Hats" at a noon luncheon meeting Tuesday of the Rotary Club at the Travelers Hotel.

Taylor has worked with Scouts since 1941, serving on various councils in Kentucky, Ohio and West Virginia. Since July 1959 he has held his present position as council executive.

In his talk, however, Taylor concentrated on his military background. Serving in Europe during World War II with the 100th Infantry Division, he received 13 awards and decorations, including a Presidential Citation and two Purple Hearts.

He now holds the rank of lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserves and serves as a senior instructor in the Army Corps Instructor Training School and on the staff of Second Army Headquarters.

Taylor traced the history of military preparedness and the reasons for it. "People have not basically changed," he said, "but have been fighting each other since the days of the cave man, the only factor really having changed being the means for conducting the battles."

He said that no matter "how sophisticated our weapons become or how impersonal the killing and destruction, all fighting still boils down to two basic motivations — to obtain something that someone else has or to prevent someone from taking something."

He traced methods of fighting and warfare from the caveman.

He also reviewed the development of weapons from the bow and arrow, catapult, crossbow, on up to modern artillery, aircraft, and the ICBM.

Taylor also traced the development of the military reserve concept and discussed two elements which have arisen to a great extent in modern warfare —guerrilla tactics and propaganda.

In relating his military background to his work in scouting, Taylor emphasized that he tries to instill in the boys a love for their country and a will to fight for it, if necessary. He says that we should beware of nations and groups which are trying to undermine the good things about our country.

Taylor, originally from Bourbon County, Ky., was introduced by Bill Williams, program chairman.

Rabbi Sidney Hoffman of Lima, Ohio, was welcomed as a new member. Rabbi Hoffman, a Rotarian in Lima before coming to East Liverpool, now heads the Beth Shalom Congregation.

It was announced that Harold Barth, secretary, is improving at City Hospital, where he has been a patient for about two weeks.

E. R. Chandler presided.

Youth, 18, Fined In Permit Action

Gary Wayne Sendling, 18, of Shadyside Ave. was fined $10 and costs for operating a motorcycle without an operator's permit at a hearing this morning before Municipal Court Judge Samuel Chertoff.

Sendling, who pleaded guilty, was cited July 28 near Westgate School by the State Highway Patrol. He reported to the court he since has obtained a license.

A hearing for Roy Everett Anthony, 20, of Wellsville on a charge of operating an unsafe vehicle was continued until Aug. 18.

Anthony pleaded guilty, but the judge directed he either repair the vehicle or dispose of it. The court will hold his driver's license until the case is settled.

Anthony was cited by the patrol on Route 7 Tuesday at 4:45 p. m. while driving a 1946 truck. The charge, signed by Cpl. S. L. Smith, states the vehicle had no taillights, no headlights, no brake lights, no turn signals, no emergency brake, no front license plate, four smooth tires and a broken shock absorber.

A hearing is scheduled Friday at 9 a. m. for Robert James Graham, 815 Alton St., on a charge of speeding on W. 8th St. He was cited Tuesday.

Roy Thomas Bratt of Lisbon St. Ext. will receive a hearing Aug. 26 on a charge of speed in excess of road conditions. He was cited Tuesday morning by the patrol on Route 45 after his truck overturned.

Have you ever used paint from its original container and then found when you were putting it away that you had gotten paint all over your hands from the drips on the can? Try this idea the next time you paint. Wrap some aluminum foil around the can and set it on top of a paper plate or old pie tin. The aluminum foil and plate will catch the runs. Then, all you have to do is remove both and you will have a clean container to put away.

carried a radio transmitter to permit about 20 hours of tracking.

A similar attempt failed last March 2 when the 112-foot-tall rocket exploded into a massive fireball on its launch pad after a fuel valve closed inexplicably. That was the third failure in five Atlas-Centaur test firings.

After passing through the imaginary moon early Saturday, the payload of today's shot is intended to continue circling the globe in a great looping orbit ranging out to about 500,000 miles.

The Ranger series of spacecraft photographed the moon from close range and then crashed on the surface. The pictures did not answer the question whether the surface is strong enough to support manned landings.

Most experts believe man can safely land there, but some feel a spaceship might be swallowed in a sea of dust or otherwise be damaged by a weak surface structure. It will be up to the seven-shot Surveyor series to find.

The Surveyors will use reverse rockets to slow their speed as they approach the moon so they can land gently. The first Surveyor is to provide basic data on surface strength and take pictures. Later surveyors will carry scientific instruments to dig up and analyze soil samples, measure moonquakes and make other observations for up to 30 days.

IN GOOD HANDS

When the shifts change in the Hot Strip mill at Crucible's Midland Works, the responsibility for overseeing the next eight hours work of the five-stand tandem mill passes from McMillen to McMillen.

When John (left) reports to work, he gets a briefing from his brother, Andy - - what orders have been processed, what special orders are scheduled, how the equipment has been functioning, what needs his immediate attention. The changeover from one crew to the next is smooth and efficient and reveals a working relationship that is duplicated in every operation throughout the plant.

Such teamwork is necessary in this around-the-clock operation to produce the steady flow of quality steels needed to satisfy customer demands.

carried a radio transmitter to permit about 20 hours of tracking.

A similar attempt failed last March 2 when the 112-foot-tall rocket exploded into a massive fireball on its launch pad after a fuel valve closed inexplicably. That was the third failure in five Atlas-Centaur test firings.

After passing through the imaginary moon early Saturday, the payload of today's shot is intended to continue circling the globe in a great looping orbit ranging out to about 500,000 miles.

The Ranger series of spacecraft photographed the moon from close range and then crashed on the surface. The pictures did not answer the question whether the surface is strong enough to support manned landings.

Most experts believe man can safely land there, but some feel a spaceship might be swallowed in a sea of dust or otherwise be damaged by a weak surface structure. It will be up to the seven-shot Surveyor series to find.

The Surveyors will use reverse rockets to slow their speed as they approach the moon so they can land gently. The first Surveyor is to provide basic data on surface strength and take pictures. Later surveyors will carry scientific instruments to dig up and analyze soil samples, measure moonquakes and make other observations for up to 30 days.

Asks Additions To Peace Plan

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican Republic's civilian-military junta has suggested four additions to the peace formula proposed by the Organization of American States (OAS) but otherwise has found it "entirely acceptable."

Junta President Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera said Tuesday night the four additions include:

A requirement that all rebel officers who may be a danger to armed forces security be given posts abroad. All military officers abroad who went over to the rebels must remain outside the armed forces. All officers of retirement age who defected must be pensioned. Decisions of competent military tribunals must be upheld.

Rebel leader Col. Francisco Caamano Deno told newsmen his side opposes five articles in the OAS plan but these do not close the door to negotiations.

The plan, offered Monday, calls for a return of all military personnel to their units.

It also provides for a provisional government headed by lawyer-diplomat Hector Garcia Godoy and elections within nine months. The provisional government would keep the inter-American military force here as long as it felt necessary.

Quints' Mother Leaves Hospital In New Zealand

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — The mother of New Zealand's quintuplets held two of her babies for the first time today and then went home from the hospital.

Shirley Ann Lawson gave their bottles to Deborah and Shirlene. It was the first time she was allowed to touch any of the five babies born July 27.

The 26-year-old mother said she was "overawed by the experience."

Mrs. Lawson telephoned her husband, Sam, and told him to come to National Women's Hospital for her "as soon as possible."

Mrs. Lawson has one other child, a 5-year-old daughter, Lee Ann.

The quints — four girls and a boy — are remaining for a while in the hospital's special nursing unit. Dr. R. A. Warren, the medical superintendent, said they have progressed enough to come out of their incubators but are being kept inside to facilitate the special care they are receiving.

Committee Deadline Preference Extended

Because of vacations, the deadline for Chamber of Commerce members to designate their committee preference has been extended to Friday, E. R. Chandler, executive manager, said today.

Chairmen of standing committees were named earlier by the Chamber's Board of Trustees and postcard notices were sent to members asking them to designate their preference for committee assignments.

The assignments will be announced in the next issue of the monthly bulletin scheduled to be mailed late next week, Chandler said.

Contracts, Other Actions Taken By Lisbon Board

LISBON — Matters relating to the coming school year occupied the Lisbon Board of Education at its meeting Tuesday night.

After a study of bids, the board awarded contracts for the following services:

Coal, Industrial Mining and Engineering Co. of Lisbon; bus servicing, Mac's Shell Service, Lisbon; bread, Ward Baking Co. of Youngstown, and milk, Purity Dairy of Beloit.

Nationwide Insurance was selected by the board for coverage of both student insurance and football.

MRS. DOROTHY Foulkes, a special education teacher, resigned since her family will be moving from the Lisbon area.

While not officially accepting his resignation, the board said it understands that John Spina, a high school science instructor, intends to teach in the New Castle (Pa.) school system and regret was expressed over his leaving after four years of service.

Miss Eileen McCullough is being considered to fill the vacancy.

The board accepted the recommendation of Supt. Oliver H. Payne for the hiring of two new teachers — Mrs. Beverly Jean Miller, a first - grade teacher from Youngstown, and Mrs. Marilyn Schumacher, a kindergarten teacher from Damascus Rd., Salem.

The board also approved the following positions on the school staffs: Miss Deronda Crihfield, high school English; Steve Frew, John Groves and Chic Ashton, assistant high school football coaches; Ed Deville and James Morgan, junior high school coaches.

PAYNE SAID two assistant basketball coaches will be named from teachers currently serving in the school system. He also pointed to the need for two more teachers, one in high school math and another in intermediate special education.

In other actions, the board approved a request from Mrs. Roger Hall to permit her daughter to attend West Point School in the Beaver Local District. The family resided in the Beaver district a year ago and since has moved into a home just inside the Lisbon school district on Route 30.

Dr. Wade Bacon, a board member, was chosen as delegate to the 10th annual Ohio School Boards Association business meeting Nov. 10-11 in Columbus. William Morgan was named alternate.

Heavy Rain Brings Relief To Northeast

By The Associated Press

Heavy rain has broken the two-month long drought in Maine and eased conditions in other parts of New England.

Thunderstorms rumbled across the region Tuesday with heavy rain, hail and strong winds in some sections. More than two inches of rain fell in central parts of Maine. Showers had hit most drought areas of the Northeast since Sunday. Amherst, Mass., was doused with 4.5 inches of rain in 24 hours.

Thundershowers continued today along sections of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts and in Western mountain areas. Thunderstorms were reported in scattered parts of the Southeast coast. Nearly 2.5 inches of rain splashed Milton, in the Florida Panhandle, in a six-hour period.

About two-thirds of an inch of rain Tuesday night helped ease the big forest fire in Washington County, Maine.

Thunderstorms that struck areas in the West Tuesday were accompanied by gusty winds in some areas, including Tonopah, Nev., and Pocatello, Idaho. The wind squalls stirred up clouds of blowing dust across parts of the Southwest desert.

House Approves $1.7 Billion For Global Military Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Increased U.S. involvement in Viet Nam has helped obtain House approval of a $1.7 billion appropriation for military construction around the world.

The House passed the bill Tuesday, sending it to the Senate. The total is $293.5 million less than the Pentagon asked. The Defense Department is asking the Senate to restore some of the funds.

—:—

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has recommended Senate approval of a proposed consular treaty with Russia.

But five members voiced strong objections, denouncing the proposed treaty as a vehicle for potential espionage and subversion.

Committee approval came on a voice vote.

The dissenters were Sens. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, John J. Williams, R-Del., and Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the committee, said the treaty would help eliminate friction between the two nations and provide greater protection for Americans traveling in Russia.

The proposal would allow the Soviet Union to open consular offices in key American cities, while the United States would do the same in Russia.

—:—

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marines are changing their recruiting policy to meet an authorized 30,000 increase in their active strength.

A spokesman said they now will try to sign up a limited number of immediate active duty reservists.

This means the men will be recruited as reserves, but will serve a two-year hitch before reverting to that status.

The regular Marine enlistment is for four years.

Innocent Plea Given On Fugitive Charges

Woods, wanted here on a larceny by trick charge, will have an extradition hearing as soon as Gov. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana signs extradition papers sent him last week by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Heavy Rain Brings Relief To Northeast

By The Associated Press

Heavy rain has broken the two-month long drought in Maine and eased conditions in other parts of New England.

Thunderstorms rumbled across the region Tuesday with heavy rain, hail and strong winds in some sections. More than two inches of rain fell in central parts of Maine. Showers had hit most drought areas of the Northeast since Sunday. Amherst, Mass., was doused with 4.5 inches of rain in 24 hours.

Thundershowers continued today along sections of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts and in Western mountain areas. Thunderstorms were reported in scattered parts of the Southeast coast. Nearly 2.5 inches of rain splashed Milton, in the Florida Panhandle, in a six-hour period.

About two-thirds of an inch of rain Tuesday night helped ease the big forest fire in Washington County, Maine.

Thunderstorms that struck areas in the West Tuesday were accompanied by gusty winds in some areas, including Tonopah, Nev., and Pocatello, Idaho. The wind squalls stirred up clouds of blowing dust across parts of the Southwest desert.

House Approves $1.7 Billion For Global Military Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Increased U.S. involvement in Viet Nam has helped obtain House approval of a $1.7 billion appropriation for military construction around the world.

The House passed the bill Tuesday, sending it to the Senate. The total is $293.5 million less than the Pentagon asked. The Defense Department is asking the Senate to restore some of the funds.

—:—

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has recommended Senate approval of a proposed consular treaty with Russia.

But five members voiced strong objections, denouncing the proposed treaty as a vehicle for potential espionage and subversion.

Committee approval came on a voice vote.

The dissenters were Sens. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, John J. Williams, R-Del., and Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the committee, said the treaty would help eliminate friction between the two nations and provide greater protection for Americans traveling in Russia.

The proposal would allow the Soviet Union to open consular offices in key American cities, while the United States would do the same in Russia.

—:—

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marines are changing their recruiting policy to meet an authorized 30,000 increase in their active strength.

A spokesman said they now will try to sign up a limited number of immediate active duty reservists.

This means the men will be recruited as reserves, but will serve a two-year hitch before reverting to that status.

The regular Marine enlistment is for four years.

Innocent Plea Given On Fugitive Charges

CLEVELAND (AP) — Eugene H. Woods, 42, former nursing home operator in Cleveland, has pleaded innocent to fugitive charges. He was arraigned Tuesday in Criminal District Court in New Orleans.

Woods, wanted here on a larceny by trick charge, will have an extradition hearing as soon as Gov. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana signs extradition papers sent him last week by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Negroes Plan More Sit-Ins In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Negro leaders have announced there will be no let up in sit-ins here until qualified Negroes are hired for construction jobs.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Congress of Racial Equality have accused the building trades industry of discriminating against the Negro worker.

Tuesday, the two civil rights groups staged their fourth sit-in in two weeks, and also asked George Meany, national president of the AFL-CIO, to participate.

Dr. Bruce Green, president of the Cincinnati chapter of the NAACP, and Leonard Ball, Cincinnati CORE chairman, said in a telegram to Meany:

"Urgently request your personal involvement in local situation. Demonstrations by NAACP and CORE have resulted in 37 arrests thus far. Demonstrations will continue until positive resolution is achieved."

Ball also said he expects James Farmer, national CORE director, to visit Cincinnati Aug. 26.

Tuesday's sit-in was at the office of Al Bilik, president of the Cincinnati AFL - CIO Labor Council. Eleven Negro and white demonstrators spent most of the afternoon in his office, while others marched outside.

Police arrived, but when Bilik asked what they wanted, they left. There were no arrests. bilik said he spent most of the time debating with the demonstrators.

In other action Tuesday, causes of 16 persons arrested Monday in a sit-in at the offices of Allied Construction Industries were continued by Judge John W. Keefe until Aug. 26.

Lake County Wages Own War On Poverty

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)— Lake County is continuing its own war on poverty after rejecting federal proposals to join one of three other counties.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I had an inspiration today!

I turned the grocery shopping cart around before entering the check-out aisle.

Unloading was a cinch because the low, handle-less end was facing me.

Try it. You can reach everything in the cart much easier and with far less effort.

MRS. H. G. HUNTINGTON.

Sugar, you deserve a pat on the back!

No more stretching across the handle, or having a hard time reaching under that little inside basket-like gadget that many grocery carts have.

Thank ye kindly, ma'am!

HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: My 6-year-old told her aunt on Sunday, "You are the bestest cook I have ever tasted."

READER.

I bet you smiled —real proud, huh, mommie? I would have been.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: The bottom drawer in my stove was jammed full of pans and lids, and sometimes I couldn't get the drawer out, when a lid or pan would catch.

I put up a curtain rod (about a yard long) on the wall close to the stove, and now put my lids behind this rod.

They fit between the wall and rod, and the knobs on the lids fit right on the rod and holds them.

Now I can pull out the drawer without getting so aggravated!

IRENE BRADLEY.

DEAR HELOISE: I have a problem your readers may be able to help me with:

On belts that come with cotton dresses, the cardboard backing cracks and tears off in places, making the belt useless.

Can any of your readers suggest a way I can reinforce these belts to make them stiff again?

MRS. KENNETH SAUTER.

-:-

How about it? Do any of you gals have the answer to this all-too-frequent problem? If so, please drop a line to us in care of this paper.

We'd love to hear from you.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Recently I saw the suggestion about "burger-dogs." (Making hamburgers in the shape of hot dogs, and serving on hot dog buns.)

We have these often, but I add a strip of bacon, coiled around the hamburger-dog, and broil it.

The bacon adds flavor, and makes the burger-dog better than either hamburgers or hot dogs!

Thanks again for being the spice of life.

V.A.M.

-:-

And, thank you for spicing up our hamburgers.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: In polishing my bedroom furniture today, I tried a new idea for dusting my spool-type poster bed.

Instead of wearing out my wrists, I simply sprayed the wax onto a slim dusting rag and polished away, using a shoe-shine motion!

Not only did the job go faster, but the bed has never looked so good, and it only took a fraction of the time I usually spend.

My husband said, "Be sure Heloise finds out about that!"

RUTH ANN BICE.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: I carry a small roll of cellophane tape, scratch pad, and a pen in my bag, so when I go visiting and no one is there, I can write a note, tear off a piece of tape, and stick the note to the door.

This way, the note never gets lost.

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Adm. Americo Thomaz, 70, has been sworn in for a second seven-year term as president of Portugal.

Great Lakes Expected To Fall This Month

DETROIT (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers says the Great Lakes are expected to begin their usual fall decline this month, but that all except Lake Superior probably will stay above 1964 low marks through next January.

Lakes Huron and Michigan at the end of July were about nine inches above levels of the same time a year ago. Erie was two inches higher and Ontario about an inch, while Superior was reported down about three inches.

1 Killed, 2 Injured In Pennsylvania Crash

BELLE VERNON, Pa. (AP) —Two Ohioans were injured critically Tuesday in a two-car crash that killed Mrs. Marian Berkowitz, 59, of Monessen, Pa.

Police said Mrs. Berkowitz' car collided with one driven by William E. Adair, 47, of Niles, Ohio, on Route 70 about 10 miles east of here. Adair and a passenger, Albert W. Groesbeck, 52, of Warren, Ohio, were taken to Cherleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Man Killed In Fall

CINCINNATI (AP) — Thomas E. Davenport, 73, died Tuesday when he fell from a second story porch at his home, police said. Davenport evidently leaned against a screen and it gave way, officers said.

Johnson To Sign Bill Today

Water Shortages Given White House Attention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Water shortages—a present crisis in the Northeast and a long-term source of national anxiety—get White House attention today.

President Johnson signs a $185 million bill to continue and extend the Interior Department's program to develop practical means of desalting ocean water as a supplement to the overtaxed rivers, lakes and springs.

Later, Johnson meets with the governors, congressional delegations and mayors from four largely urban states that draw on the Delaware River Basin for water and may have critical shortages next month because of a four-year drought afflicting the area. The four states are New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

The saline water conversion bill, extending the program through 1972, has been pushed hard by Johnson. He told his science adviser to bear down on desalting programs "as if you knew you were going to run out of drinking water in the next six months." And the White House says further legislative proposals will be submitted next year.

The present bill authorizes an additional $15 million for research and development, making $35 million available for next year, counting carry-over funds. Additional amounts above $90 million, up to $185 million, would require additional congressional authorization.

The Delaware Basin water conference was called after Secretary of the Interior Stawart L. Udall reported to Johnson the biggest cities of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey face a water impasse by early September.

Johnson has suggested desalinization as a possibility for easing the long-term water problems of the Northeast.

Although rains in the past few days slightly eased the immediate crisis—New York City's reservoirs had a net gain for the first time in 67 days—there was no prospect of a natural solution to the problem. Udall has said only a prolonged series of rains or a hurricane could do this.

Residents of New York City were cautioned meanwhile not to relax in their conservation efforts, even though an estimated 2.4 billion gallons of water—little more than a two-day supply for the city—was added to the reservoirs by weekend rains. Waiters still are not bringing diners glasses of water unless asked, lawn-sprinkling and swimming pool-filling are still banned.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City announced new regulations and plans to acquire water, including purchase of 50 million gallons daily from private companies in the metropolitan area.

Crewman On Sinatra Yacht Drowns, But Saves Another

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass. (AP) — "The boat flipped over and Jim yelled 'I can't swim.' Bob gave him the life preserver—the only one. It was Bob that saved Jim's life.

Cheryl Navin, 21, of Lincoln, Neb., was describing the drowning of Robert Goldfarb, 23 of New Rochelle, N.Y., after he had saved the life of a fellow crewman aboard the yacht on which Frank Sinatra and actress Mia Farrow are vacationing.

The chartered, 168-foot yacht left Vineyard Haven Harbor late Tuesday and headed for Newport, R.I. It ran into thick fog, however, and remained anchored early today in the mouth of Rhode Island's Narragansett Bay.

Goldfarb, Miss Navin, the yacht steward James O. Grimes and Margaret Whittemore, 21, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., were rowing a small boat back to the yacht when the drowning occurred early Tuesday.

"We were out about 15 minutes," Miss Navin said. "There were heavy waves and a strong wind and the water began coming in over the stern. Then the boat sank, right under us."

She said after the boat was tossed over in the waves, Goldfarb became exhausted trying to keep Grimes close to the boat and afloat.

She and Miss Whittemore decided to swim to the yacht.

"We couldn't see any lights on shore but the yacht was brightly lighted."

The girls said they must have been in the choppy water for nearly an hour before they could get close enough to the yacht, the Southern Breeze, to shout for help.

"We screamed and a launch was sent out to pick us up. And then they went to the dinghy and got Jim," Miss Whitemore said.

Goldfarb was not found.

He was a graduate of the New York Maritime Academy at Fort Schuyler, N.Y., and had been a crewman on yachts and tankers. He leaves a widow.

The yacht skipper, Capt. William Cannon of Houston, Tex., said Sinatra and his guests were "shocked and appalled at the tragic event."

Sinatra was not available for comment.

The Southern Breeze left Newport a little more than a week ago for what was reported to have been a month-long trip along the New England coast. Sinatra chartered the yacht from C. W. Edwards of Houston for his party of 29 celebrities, friends and crewmen.

Among the passengers is Miss Farrow, a star in the television serial "Peyton Place."

Though never affirmed or denied, rumors spread through the island after their arrival that Sinatra, 49, and the 19-year-old actress were about to marry.

Cleveland Priest Becomes Bishop In Colorful Ceremony

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 52-year-old Cleveland priest becomes the Roman Catholic Church's newest bishop today in a colorful consecration ceremony at St. John Cathedral.

The Right Rev. Msgr. Raymond J. Gallagher will be consecrated bishop of a 24-county Catholic diocese in Lafayette, Ind., by Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, apostolic delegate to the United States.

Msgr. Gallagher, who gained national recognition for his work in Catholic charities, will be installed as head of the Indiana Diocese Aug. 23. He will be the third bishop of the 21-year-old diocese and spiritual leader of 73,321 Catholics.

A colorful procession preceded the joyful ceremony in the cathedral. Some 35 archbishops and bishops from all over the country and 500 priests participated.

Five priests offered the mass together. They included the new bishop's brother, the Right Rev. Msgr. William B. Gallagher, pastor of St. Francis Assisi Parish in suburban Gates Mills.

The others were coadjutor bishop Clarence G. Issenmann of Cleveland and coadjutor bishop Leo C. Byrne of Wichita, Kas.

Msgr. Gallagher is the 21st Cleveland priest to be named a bishop. In Lafayette, he succeeds Bishop John J. Carberry, now bishop in Columbus, Ohio.

He was born in Cleveland, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gallagher. His father was from Ireland, his mother from Youngstown, Ohio.

Since 1961 he has been executive secretary of the National Conference of Catholic Charities in Washington. The U. S. bishops in 1960 and 1961 made him responsible for coordinating Catholic participation in the White House conferences on youth and the aging.

Different Factors Seen Cause Of Food Price Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The housewife who is paying a dime more for every dollar's worth of food than she did a year ago may be ready to swat whoever is responsible. But she may have trouble finding her target.

The Agriculture Department says different factors operated on different kinds of food staples, but the general explanation of a 10.1 per cent rise in prices is the usual one: Supplies were smaller than the demand.

Food fats and oils, for example, were in good supply in this country, but short elsewhere, so foreign customers came in and bid up prices here. On the other hand, pork supplies fell and prices rose because of purely domestic decisions. U.S. farmers became discouraged with low returns.

The department had a somewhat muted note of cheer. Prices should reach their peak this month or next and then ease somewhat but not all the way down to last year's levels.

Items whose prices increased the most by midyear included food fats and oils, meats, fresh vegetables and potatoes. Partly offsetting these advances were lower prices for oranges, sugar and coffee. Pork prices increased 13 per cent, fresh fruits 22 per cent, fresh vegetables 7 per cent, and beef 10 per cent.

It is normal for retail prices to go up a little by midyear. That is a time when supplies are at the lowest level because it is at the end of the previous year's production and just ahead of the new harvests. But this year's price increases were above normal.

In the case of pork, slaughter fell off nearly 10 per cent.

In the case of beef, prices advanced largely because of the shrinkage in pork supplies and a consequent small reduction in total meat supplies.

The department expects some easing off of beef and pork prices later in the year. It may be another year before total meat supplies reach 1964 levels. That's because it takes time for an improvement in meat animal prices to be reflected in larger supplies.

3 West Virginia GIs Tell Stories Of Fear About Viet

CHARLESTON (AP) — Three West Virginians have returned from military duty in South Viet Nam with stories of fear and confusion.

The three, Pfc. Jimmy Bird, 18, of Elkview, Kanawha County, Pfc. Arnold Carpenter, 21, and Lance Cpl. Roger Lipscomb, both of Parkersburg, gave their views of the Vietnamese civil war when they arrived here this week for a 30-day leave from the Marine Corps.

"We're sitting ducks . . . Everybody is afraid and confused," Lipscomb said in describing the morale of American troops in the southeast Asian country.

"We can't tell North Vietnamese from South Vietnamese and we have to fight side by side with those from the south," Bird said. "It's terrifying."

Carpenter said American troops are afraid to leave their units because of the presence of Viet Cong rebels, even in towns held by the South Viet Nam government.

Bird also was critical of political leadership in the war. "Why doesn't Washington let us fight the war and get out of there?" he asked.

Lipscomb added: "the U. S. trains us to fight in an effective way and then sends a directive to keep our rifles out of firing position."

Bird summed up his feelings on the conflict: "I sleep with one hand on my gun and the other on a Bible."

Nixon Shuns Talk Of His Aspirations

WEST BRANCH, Iowa (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, here for ceremonies commemorating the 91st anniversary of Herbert Hoover's birth, turned aside questions about his political aspirations.

"If I had any," he said, "I wouldn't talk about them here."

But Nixon, the unsuccessful Republican presidential candidate in 1960, told a news conference he would return to Iowa sometime this fall to address a party fund-raising dinner in Des Moines, and said:

Nixon's appearance imparted campaign boisterousness to activities Tuesday in this eastern Iowa town of 1,000 where President Hoover was born in 1874. Hoover died last year and is buried here.

Nixon plunged into crowds seeking a glimpse of him and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He shook hands and responded to cries of, "Hey, Dick!"

After a speech in which he called for stepped up American attacks on North Viet Nam, Nixon spent about 15 minutes autographing programs and snatches of paper urged upon him.

Eisenhower only once broke through the cordon of officers escorting him. As he entered the Hoover Presidential Library, he reached out both hands to well-wishers lining the sidewalk.

Johnson To Sign Bill Today

Water Shortages Given White House Attention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Water shortages—a present crisis in the Northeast and a long-term source of national anxiety—get White House attention today.

President Johnson signs a $185 million bill to continue and extend the Interior Department's program to develop practical means of desalting ocean water as a supplement to the overtaxed rivers, lakes and springs.

Later, Johnson meets with the governors, congressional delegations and mayors from four largely urban states that draw on the Delaware River Basin for water and may have critical shortages next month because of a four-year drought afflicting the area. The four states are New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

The saline water conversion bill, extending the program through 1972, has been pushed hard by Johnson. He told his science adviser to bear down on desalting programs "as if you knew you were going to run out of drinking water in the next six months." And the White House says further legislative proposals will be submitted next year.

The present bill authorizes an additional $15 million for research and development, making $35 million available for next year, counting carry-over funds. Additional amounts above $90 million, up to $185 million, would require additional congressional authorization.

The Delaware Basin water conference was called after Secretary of the Interior Stawart L. Udall reported to Johnson the biggest cities of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey face a water impasse by early September.

Johnson has suggested desalinization as a possibility for easing the long-term water problems of the Northeast.

Although rains in the past few days slightly eased the immediate crisis—New York City's reservoirs had a net gain for the first time in 67 days—there was no prospect of a natural solution to the problem. Udall has said only a prolonged series of rains or a hurricane could do this.

Residents of New York City were cautioned meanwhile not to relax in their conservation efforts, even though an estimated 2.4 billion gallons of water—little more than a two-day supply for the city—was added to the reservoirs by weekend rains. Waiters still are not bringing diners glasses of water unless asked, lawn-sprinkling and swimming pool-filling are still banned.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City announced new regulations and plans to acquire water, including purchase of 50 million gallons daily from private companies in the metropolitan area.

Crewman On Sinatra Yacht Drowns, But Saves Another

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass. (AP) — "The boat flipped over and Jim yelled 'I can't swim.' Bob gave him the life preserver—the only one. It was Bob that saved Jim's life."

Charyl Navin, 21, of Lincoln, Neb., was describing the drowning of Robert Goldfarb, 23 of New Rochelle, N.Y., after he had saved the life of a fellow crewman aboard the yacht on which Frank Sinatra and actress Mia Farrow are vacationing.

The chartered, 168-foot yacht left Vineyard Haven Harbor late Tuesday and headed for Newport, R.I. It ran into thick fog, however, and remained anchored early today in the mouth of Rhode Island's Narragansett Bay.

Goldfarb, Miss Navin, the yacht steward James O. Grimes and Margaret Whittemore, 21, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., were rowing a small boat back to the yacht when the drowning occurred early Tuesday.

"We were out about 15 minutes," Miss Navin said. "There were heavy waves and a strong wind and the water began coming in over the stern. Then the boat sank, right under us."

She said after the boat was tossed over in the waves, Goldfarb became exhausted trying to keep Grimes close to the boat and afloat.

She and Miss Whittemore decided to swim to the yacht.

"We couldn't see any lights on shore but the yacht was brightly lighted."

The girls said they must have been in the choppy water for nearly an hour before they could get close enough to the yacht, the Southern Breeze, to shout for help.

"We screamed and a launch was sent out to pick us up. And then they went to the dinghy and got Jim," Miss Whitemore said.

Goldfarb was not found.

He was a graduate of the New York Maritime Academy at Fort Schuyler, N.Y., and had been a crewman on yachts and tankers. He leaves a widow.

The yacht skipper, Capt. William Cannon of Houston, Tex., said Sinatra and his guests were "shocked and appalled at the tragic event."

Sinatra was not available for comment.

The Southern Breeze left Newport a little more than a week ago for what was reported to have been a month-long trip along the New England coast. Sinatra chartered the yacht from C. W. Edwards of Houston for his party of 29 celebrities, friends and crewmen.

Among the passengers is Miss Farrow, a star in the television serial "Peyton Place."

Though never affirmed or denied, rumors spread through the island after their arrival that Sinatra, 49, and the 19-year-old actress were about to marry.

Cleveland Priest Becomes Bishop In Colorful Ceremony

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 52-year-old Cleveland priest becomes the Roman Catholic Church's newest bishop today in a colorful consecration ceremony at St. John Cathedral.

The Right Rev. Msgr. Raymond J. Gallagher will be consecrated bishop of a 24-county Catholic diocese in Lafayette, Ind., by Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, apostolic delegate to the United States.

Msgr. Gallagher, who gained national recognition for his work in Catholic charities, will be installed as head of the Indiana Diocese Aug. 23. He will be the third bishop of the 21-year-old diocese and spiritual leader of 73,521 Catholics.

A colorful procession preceded the joyful ceremony in the cathedral. Some 35 archbishops and bishops from all over the country and 500 priests participated.

Five priests offered the mass together. They included the new bishop's brother, the Right Rev. Msgr. William B. Gallagher, pastor of St. Francis Assisi Parish in suburban Gates Mills.

The others were coadjutor bishop Clarence G. Issenmann of Cleveland and coadjutor bishop Leo C. Byrne of Wichita, Kas.

Msgr. Gallagher is the 21st Cleveland priest to be named a bishop. In Lafayette, he succeeds Bishop John J. Carberry, now bishop in Columbus, Ohio.

He was born in Cleveland, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gallagher. His father was from Ireland, his mother from Youngstown, Ohio.

Since 1961 he has been executive secretary of the National Conference of Catholic Charities in Washington. The U.S. bishops in 1960 and 1961 made him responsible for coordinating Catholic participation in the White House conferences on youth and the aging.

10.1% Over Last Year's

Different Factors Seen Cause Of Food Price Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The housewife who is paying a dime more for every dollar's worth of food than she did a year ago may be ready to swat whoever is responsible. But she may have trouble finding her target.

The Agriculture Department says different factors operated on different kinds of food staples, but the general explanation of a 10.1 per cent rise in prices is the usual one: Supplies were smaller than the demand.

Food fats and oils, for example, were in good supply in this country, but short elsewhere, so foreign customers came in and bid up prices here. On the other hand, pork supplies fell and prices rose because of purely domestic decisions: U.S. farmers became discouraged with low returns.

The department had a somewhat muted note of cheer. Prices should reach their peak this month or next and then ease somewhat but not all the way down to last year's levels.

Items whose prices increased the most by midyear included food fats and oils, meats, fresh vegetables and potatoes. Partly offsetting these advances were lower prices for oranges, sugar and coffee. Pork prices increased 13 per cent, fresh fruits 22 per cent, fresh vegetables 7 per cent, and beef 10 per cent.

It is normal for retail prices to go up a little by midyear. That is a time when supplies are at the lowest level because it is at the end of the previous year's production and just ahead of the new harvests. But this year's price increases were above normal.

In the case of pork, slaughter fell off nearly 10 per cent.

In the case of beef, prices advanced largely because of the shrinkage in pork supplies and a consequent small reduction in total meat supplies.

The department expects some easing off of beef and pork prices later in the year. It may be another year before total meat supplies reach 1964 levels.

That's because it takes time for an improvement in meat animal prices to be reflected in larger supplies.

Prices of fresh vegetables shot up during the first half of the year because of reduced production and supplies. Factors included adverse weather during the late winter and spring in some producing areas and a reduction in acreages of some vegetables because of farmers' fears they would not be able to get enough labor.

But in recent weeks, vegetable production has increased. Supplies are now larger than a year earlier and prices have turned downward. High prices for potatoes reflected largely the fact that last year's fall crop was short. Growers who had received lower prices had planted fewer acres.

Reduced production of some early fruits, also, was reflected in higher retail prices.

Bratt was headed south when he lost control on a curve and the truck overturned on its side on the roadway, spilling the load of coal and partially blocking the highway. Bratt was unhurt, officers said.

A steer owned by Firestone Farms near Columbiana was killed at 2:45 this morning when struck on Route 14, just east of Route 7, by a tractor-trailer truck operated by Leo L. Miller, 46, of Bellevue.

Pony Nine Loses 1-0 Decision

★ ★ ★ Locals Held To Two Hits; Face Mon City Tonight ★ ★ ★

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

FREEPORT, Pa. — The East Liverpool Pony All - Stars slipped into the loser's bracket here Tuesday night by dropping a tough 1-0 decision to the Allegheny - Kiski Stars in the first round of the Regional Pony League tournament.

The double elimination play resumes tonight with East Liverpool matched against Tuesday's other loser — the Mon City All - Stars — at 6 p. m.

BOTH games Tuesday ended in 1-0 decisions as North Pittsburgh, which will play the Allegheny - Kiski nine in the second game tonight, edged Mon City by the same margin when Jim Shubert pitched a no-hitter and fanned 11 batters.

A home run by Allegheny's No. 9 hitter, rightfielder Bill Bordell in the third inning, was the difference in last night's game.

Righthander Jerry Howell was on the mound for East Liverpool and outside of the home run waged a strong pitching battle with Allegheny's Berry Booker.

HOWELL gave up only three hits and pitched out of trouble on two occasions. Booker allowed East Liverpool only two hits but had to get out of two jams himself in the second and fourth innings.

East Liverpool had golden opportunities to score twice but could not capitalize. The locals had runners on second and third in the second with one out when Danny Myers walked and Alan Six dropped down a perfect bunt. A wild pitch advanced both runners but Booker was able to strike out Bernard Lovejoy and retire Sonny Clark on a pop up to the first baseman.

IT LOOKED as if the East Liverpool nine would break the game wide open in the fourth by loading the bases with no outs.

Jim Musuraca had sent a sharp line drive single to rightfield to lead off in the fourth and Myers followed with walk.

Alan Six was hit on the left arm with a pitch but Booker fanned Lovejoy and a double play followed. Clark smacked a ground ball to the third baseman who threw home forcing Musuraca. The throw to first was not in time but Myers came around third and continued home. A throw back to the plate easily nailed Myers and the threat ended.

AFTER giving up the one-out home run to Bordello, Howell was touched with a single and gave up two walks to load the bases in the third inning but managed to strike out the third batter when he poured a 3-2 picth past Dan Karlo.

East Liverpool never threatened again after the fourth inning.

Musuraca got the only solid hit off Booker and was robbed of another when Bordello, who smacked the home run, made a diving catch of his line drive in the sixth inning.

HOWELL struck out 10 batters, including the first four to face him, and walked three. Booker showed eight strikeouts and gave up four free passes.

The winner of the Regional tournament will advance to the Divisional eliminations at Washington, Pa.

Likes It Rainy And Damp

Nichols Enjoying Present Weather At Site Of PGA

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — Bobby Nichols is no friend of fair weather. He likes it rainy and damp.

And he hopes the chilling wetness that has enveloped these Western Pennsylvania highlands holds right through the four days of the Professional Golfers' Association Championship opening Thursday.

"This my kind of weather," said the defending PGA champion Tuesday during a practice round at the Laurel Valley Club.

He stood in the drizzle and looked at the gloomy skies. "I like to play in weather like this," he said. "I like my shots to go out there and hold. It's much better for me than when it's dry and fast, and the ball rolls."

Rain hit this area last week after a long dry spell, and it's made a considerable difference in the rolling, 7,090-yard Laurel Valley layout.

The course is playing longer. The balls are hitting and holding on the fairways and greens, and in the rough and mushy traps.

As the defending champion and a slugger on a course that favors sluggers, Nichols is in the upper echelon among the field of 167 entered in the four-day, 72-hole event.

The favorite is Jack Nicklaus, the chunky Masters champion who comes into the PGA after two rich tour victories in a row. Right behind is South Africa's Gary Player, the U.S. Open winner, and such prominent tourists as Tony Lema and Billy Casper.

If it were up to the fans, however, it would be Arnold Palmer in a landslide. This is the slumping belter's native territory, and Laurel Valley is, in fact, his home club.

The field will be cut to low 70 and ties after Friday's second round.

Portions of the final two rounds will be carried on network television by ABC Saturday and Sunday.

Koufax First To Gain 20 Mark

Mets Are Victim; Southpaw Eyes 30

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax doesn't want any relief, but he thinks he'll need some to win 30 games.

The inimitable Koufax discussed that elusive plateau after becoming the majors' first 20-game winner in the Los Angeles' Dodgers 4-3 triumph over the New York Mets Tuesday night.

"I feel a little tired," he admitted, "but after a couple of nights sleep I'm always ready again. It would help if the weather got a little cooler. But I'm not looking for any rest. I still want to pitch every fourth day.

"I have a chance to win 30, but I would have to win every start. I really don't think I'll get 30 because you have to pick up some in relief, and I doubt that I'll be doing that."

If Koufax continues pitching every fourth day, he will have 12 more starts, enough so that he could afford to lose a couple and still become the first to win 30 since Dizzy Dean did it in 1934.

It's even possible that Manager Walt Alston will call upon the left-handed ace for some relief duty if the National League pennant race remains as close as it is now. The Dodgers lead San Francisco by only one game and Milwaukee and Cincinnati by two each.

Koufax, who has lost four games, struck out 14 Mets, and raised his major league-leading total to 267, just 81 away from Bob Feller's all-time season record. He also extended his career mark with the Mets to 13-0 and became the earliest 20-game winner since teammate Don Drysdale won his 20th on Aug. 3, 1962.

In other NL games, San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 4-3, Milwaukee downed St. Louis 5-3, Cincinnati trimmed Chicago 6-2 and Philadelphia beat Houston 2-0.

Koufax blanked the Mets on three hits until the eighth when singles by Bobby Klaus and Roy McMillan plus Charlie Smith's double and Joe Christopher's sacrifice fly brought in two runs. Then Ron Swoboda homered in the ninth. Ron Fairly's single and Wes Parker's triple brought in what turned out to be the deciding run in the Los Angeles sixth.

Juan Marichal won his 18th game against eight defeats by limiting Pittsburgh to four hits, one of them Bill Virden's two-run homer in the ninth. Len Gabrielson's two-run single in the eight supplied the Giants with their winning margin.

Ed Mathews drove in three runs, two with his 25th homer that snapped a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning, as the Braves beat St. Louis and Bob Gibson, now 14-9. Tony Cloninger scattered seven hits, bringing his record to 16-8.

Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson led a Cincinnati attack that carried Sammy Ellis to his 15th victory against seven defeats. Robinson highlighted the Reds' three-run first inning with a two-run double while Pinson doubled and socked his 18th home run.

Jim Bunning set Houston down on five hits and figured in both of the Phillies' runs.

Twins Whip Yankees, 7-3, To Open Lead Of 8½ Games

By DICK COUCH

The Minnesota Twins, who started their season with a dugout auction, are well on the way to ending it with a World Series ticket sale.

The American League leaders stampeded the New York Yankees 7-3 Tuesday night, extending their winning streak to six games and inspiring Manager Sam Mele to offer a cautiously optimistic view from the top.

"We've got a pretty good lead," Mele conceded after the Twins' 13th victory in their last 16 starts opened an 8 ½-length bulge over second-place Baltimore. "They've got to catch us now."

Mele's mood has changed considerably since spring training, when the Twins reported to camp still smarting from last season's sixth-place finish and shortstop Zoilo Versalles outbid the manager in a much-publicized dugout dispute.

"Versalles has played tremendous ball ever since. He's done a great job for us," Mele said.

The Orioles fell another half-game behind Minnesota when they divided a twi-night doubleheader at Boston. The Red Sox won the opener 15-5 with a 12-run explosion in the fifth inning. The Orioles rebounded 12-5 in the nightcap behind Bob Johnson and Brooks Robinson.

Los Angeles defeated Cleveland 5-2; Chicago whipped Washington 6-0 and Detroit blanked Kansas City 3-0 in other AL night games.

The Twins shook the Yankees with five unearned runs in the eighth inning, Versalles starting the rally by stretching a hit into a double and scoring the lead run on pitcher Pete Mikkelsen's two-out throwing error.

Run-scoring singles by Jimmie Hall and Don Mincher, and a two-run double by Earl Battey completed the winning burst.

Mickey Mantle crached his 16th homer for New York in the eighth off winning pitcher Jim Kaat. Mikkelsen took the loss in relief of Whitey Ford, who retired for a pinch hitter as the Yankees pulled even at 2-2 in the seventh.

The Orioles gained a split against the Red Sox as Johnson collected four hits, driving in four runs, and Robinson knocked in five runs with a homer, triple, single and sacrifice fly.

Felix Mantilla and Dalton Jones rapped two hits and drove in three runs apiece in Boston's fifth-inning uprising that decided the opener. It was the biggest inning in the majors this season.

The Red Sox' Carl Yastrzemski collected six hits in the doubleheader, raising his AL-leading batting verage to .334.

WITH GAME BALL '20' safely in his grasp, Dodger pitcher Sandy Koufax heads for the dugout after beating the New York Mets, 4-3, Tuesday night at Los Angeles. Koufax became the first Major League hurler to achieve 20 wins and did it up in style by fanning 14 players. (UPI Telephoto)

Pony Nine Loses 1-0 Decision

★ ★ ★ Locals Held To Two Hits; Face Mon City Tonight ★ ★ ★

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

FREEPORT, Pa. — The East Liverpool Pony All - Stars slipped into the loser's bracket here Tuesday night by dropping a tough 1-0 decision to the Allegheny - Kiski Stars in the first round of the Regional Pony League tournament.

The double elimination play resumes tonight with East Liverpool matched against Tuesday's other loser — the Mon City All - Stars — at 6 p. m.

BOTH games Tuesday ended in 1-0 decisions as North Pittsburgh, which will play the Allegheny - Kiski nine in the second game tonight, edged Mon City by the same margin when Jim Shubert pitched a no-hitter and fanned 11 batters.

A home run by Allegheny's No. 9 hitter, rightfielder Bill Bordell in the third inning, was the difference in last night's game.

Righthander Jerry Howell was on the mound for East Liverpool and outside of the home run waged a strong pitching battle with Allegheny's Berry Booker.

HOWELL gave up only three hits and pitched out of trouble on two occasions. Booker allowed East Liverpool only two hits but had to get out of two jams himself in the second and fourth innings.

East Liverpool had golden opportunities to score twice but could not capitalize. The locals had runners on second and third in the second with one out when Danny Myers walked and Alan Six dropped down a perfect bunt. A wild pitch advanced both runners but Booker was able to strike out Bernard Lovejoy and retire Sonny Clark on a pop up to the first baseman.

IT LOOKED as if the East Liverpool nine would break the game wide open in the fourth by loading the bases with no outs.

Jim Musuraca had sent a sharp line drive single to rightfield to lead off in the fourth and Myers followed with walk.

Alan Six was hit on the left arm with a pitch but Booker fanned Lovejoy and a double play followed. Clark smacked a ground ball to the third baseman who threw home forcing Musuraca. The throw to first was not in time but Myers came around third and continued home. A throw back to the plate easily nailed Myers and the threat ended.

AFTER giving up the one-out home run to Bordello, Howell was touched with a single and gave up two walks to load the bases in the third inning but managed to strike out the third batter when he poured a 3-2 picth past Dan Karlo.

East Liverpool never threatened again after the fourth inning.

Musuraca got the only solid hit off Booker and was robbed of another when Bordello, who smacked the home run, made a diving catch of his line drive in the sixth inning.

HOWELL struck out 10 batters, including the first four to face him, and walked three. Booker showed eight strikeouts and gave up four free passes.

The winner of the Regional tournament will advance to the Divisional eliminations at Washington, Pa.

Likes It Rainy And Damp

Nichols Enjoying Present Weather At Site Of PGA

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — Bobby Nichols is no friend of fair weather. He likes it rainy and damp.

And he hopes the chilling wetness that has enveloped these Western Pennsylvania highlands holds right through the four days of the Professional Golfers' Association Championship opening Thursday.

"This my kind of weather," said the defending PGA champion Tuesday during a practice round at the Laurel Valley Club.

He stood in the drizzle and looked at the gloomy skies. "I like to play in weather like this," he said. "I like my shots to go out there and hold. It's much better for me than when it's dry and fast, and the ball rolls."

Rain hit this area last week after a long dry spell, and it's made a considerable difference in the rolling, 7,090-yard Laurel Valley layout.

The course is playing longer. The balls are hitting and holding on the fairways and greens, and in the rough and mushy traps.

As the defending champion and a slugger on a course that favors sluggers, Nichols is in the upper echelon among the field of 167 entered in the four-day, 72-hole event.

The favorite is Jack Nicklaus, the chunky Masters champion who comes into the PGA after two rich tour victories in a row. Right behind is South Africa's Gary Player, the U.S. Open winner, and such prominent tourists as Tony Lema and Billy Casper.

If it were up to the fans, however, it would be Arnold Palmer in a landslide. This is the slumping belter's native territory, and Laurel Valley is, in fact, his home club.

The field will be cut to low 70 and ties after Friday's second round.

Portions of the final two rounds will be carried on network television by ABC Saturday and Sunday.

Koufax First To Gain 20 Mark

Mets Are Victim; Southpaw Eyes 30

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax doesn't want any relief, but he thinks he'll need some to win 30 games.

The inimitable Koufax discussed that elusive plateau after becoming the majors' first 20-game winner in the Los Angeles' Dodgers 4-3 triumph over the New York Mets Tuesday night.

"I feel a little tired," he admitted, "but after a couple of nights sleep I'm always ready again. It would help if the weather got a little cooler. But I'm not looking for any rest. I still want to pitch every fourth day.

"I have a chance to win 30, but I would have to win every start. I really don't think I'll get 30 because you have to pick up some in relief, and I doubt that I'll be doing that."

If Koufax continues pitching every fourth day, he will have 12 more starts, enough so that he could afford to lose a couple and still become the first to win 30 since Dizzy Dean did it in 1934.

It's even possible that Manager Walt Alston will call upon the left-handed ace for some relief duty if the National League pennant race remains as close as it is now. The Dodgers lead San Francisco by only one game and Milwaukee and Cincinnati by two each.

Koufax, who has lost four games, struck out 14 Mets, and raised his major league-leading total to 267, just 81 away from Bob Feller's all-time season record. He also extended his career mark with the Mets to 13-0 and became the earliest 20-game winner since teammate Don Drysdale won his 20th on Aug. 3, 1962.

In other NL games, San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 4-3, Milwaukee downed St. Louis 5-3, Cincinnati trimmed Chicago 6-2 and Philadelphia beat Houston 2-0.

Koufax blanked the Mets on three hits until the eighth when singles by Bobby Klaus and Roy McMillan plus Charlie Smith's double and Joe Christopher's sacrifice fly brought in two runs. Then Ron Swoboda homered in the ninth. Ron Fairly's single and Wes Parker's triple brought in what turned out to be the deciding run in the Los Angeles sixth.

Juan Marichal won his 18th game against eight defeats by limiting Pittsburgh to four hits, one of them Bill Virden's two-run homer in the ninth. Len Gabrielson's two-run single in the eight supplied the Giants with their winning margin.

Ed Mathews drove in three runs, two with his 25th homer that snapped a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning, as the Braves beat St. Louis and Bob Gibson, now 14-9. Tony Cloninger scattered seven hits, bringing his record to 16-8.

Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson led a Cincinnati attack that carried Sammy Ellis to his 15th victory against seven defeats. Robinson highlighted the Reds' three-run first inning with a two-run double while Pinson doubled and socked his 18th home run.

Jim Bunning set Houston down on five hits and figured in both of the Phillies' runs.

Medics Down Vets Again, Win Little League Title

The Medics made it two straight victories to wrap up the City's Little League championship in an 8-2 playoff victory over Veteran Plate Glass Tuesday at Thompson Park.

The Medics also defeated Veteran Glass Monday in the best two-out-of-three sieries to capture the 1965 title.

After spotting Veteran Glass a 1-0 lead in the first inning, the Medics bounced back to score five runs in the third frame and three more in the fifth.

A home run by Jim Moore was the big blow for the Medics while Dave Rogers doubled and Rick Welch stroked two singles. Welch was the winning pitcher and allowed only three hits while showing six strikeouts. Jim Tipton was the losing pitcher.

The Medics collected five hits off two Veteran hurlers and both teams committed four errors.

The Medics, of the National Division, showed a 15-3 record during the regular season.

Collier Looks At New Talent

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Coach Blanton Collier plans to take a good look at rookie defensive backs Mike Howell and Jim Davis in Sunday's preseason exhibition football game against the 49ers in San Francisco.

"As you know we went against the College All-Stars with the idea of using veterans and winning," Collier said Tuesday at the Browns' training camp at Hiram.

"Now the time for experimenting, polishing and looking at the new men has arrived."

Observers say Howell of Grambling or Davis of Tulane could make the team. Another possibility is newcomer Don Stupica, also a defensive back from Xavier.

There are now 51 players on the Browns' roster, and Collier indicated he may make a cut before the team leaves Friday for the West Coast.

Now 11 above the 40-player limit, the Browns must pare down their roster to 47 by Aug. 31, with the final cut Sept. 14.

The Medics also defeated Veteran Glass Monday in the best two-out-of-three sieries to capture the 1965 title.

After spotting Veteran Glass a 1-0 lead in the first inning, the Medics bounced back to score five runs in the third frame and three more in the fifth.

A home run by Jim Moore was the big blow for the Medics while Dave Rogers doubled and Rick Welch stroked two singles. Welch was the winning pitcher and allowed only three hits while showing six strikeouts. Jim Tipton was the losing pitcher.

The Medics collected five hits off two Veteran hurlers and both teams committed four errors.

The Medics, of the National Division, showed a 15-3 record during the regular season.

Collier Looks At New Talent

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Coach Blanton Collier plans to take a good look at rookie defensive backs Mike Howell and Jim Davis in Sunday's preseason exhibition football game against the 49ers in San Francisco.

"As you know we went against the College All-Stars with the idea of using veterans and winning," Collier said Tuesday at the Browns' training camp at Hiram.

"Now the time for experimenting, polishing and looking at the new men has arrived."

Observers say Howell of Grambling or Davis of Tulane could make the team. Another possibility is newcomer Don Stupica, also a defensive back from Xavier.

There are now 51 players on the Browns' roster, and Collier indicated he may make a cut before the team leaves Friday for the West Coast.

Now 11 above the 40-player limit, the Browns must pare down their roster to 47 by Aug. 31, with the final cut Sept. 14.

Mele Is Cautious Type, Won't Admit Anything

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm ready for the World Series if the World Series is ready for me."

That's the closest persistent reporters came to getting Manager Sam Mele to acknowledge today that his speeding Minnesota Twins were riding on a non-stop express to the American League pennant.

Not even Tuesday night's 7-3 triumph over the New York Yankees, which boosted the Twins' first place lead over Baltimore to 8½ games, could induce Mele to abandon his calculated caution. It was Minnesota's sixth straight and 14th victory in the last 17 games.

"We've still got a long way to go," he protested. "The next three weeks are going to be rough. During that span we play the Yankees six more times, Detroit seven, Cleveland four and Chicago three. The pennant could be decided then."

Only a catastrophic collapse on their part could prevent the transplanted Twins from capturing their first pennant since 1933 when they were known as the Washington Senators. And judging from Tuesday night's performance, that is not about to happen.

Led by Zoilo Versalles, their flashy shortstop, the Twins literally ran the Yankees into the ground. They forced the once flawless Yankee defense into errors and took advantage of every lapse.

Versalles reached base against Whitey Ford in the first inning when Phil Linz fumbled his grounder, and with a daring piece of base-running, scored all the way from first as Rich Rollins stretched a hit to left field into a two-bagger.

Tony Oliva followed with a line single to center and the Twins had a 2-0 lead before Ford had retired his first batter.

The Yankees tied the score 2-2 in the seventh, but the Twins scored five runs after two were out in the eighth to wrap up the decision.

Mickey Mantle's home run in the bottom of the inning proved to be nothing more than a statistic. It was his 16th of the season and 470th of his career.

"We've got a pretty good lead," conceded Mele afterwards. "They've got to catch us now."

Would you say the World Series was a step closer, Sam? "Well," he said grinningly, "it would be a good three-way parlay for me. My wife is expecting our fifth child around that time and our new home in Quincy, Mass., will be finished around that time . . . but hold on, we've still got a long way to go . . ."

Giardello, Tiger Bout On Oct. 21

NEW YORK (AP) — Middleweight champion Joey Giardello is confident he will beat Nigeria's Dick Tiger again in their Oct. 21 title fight at Madison Square Garden.

"I don't think Dick can change his style and his style suits me," said Giardello Tuesday. "He likes to come in and I like a fighter to come to me."

Giardello, a counter-puncher, outboxed Tiger in dethroning the Nigerian at Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 7, 1963. In his only defense since, the 35-year-old champion from Cherry Hills, N.J., outpointed Rubin Carter of Paterson, N.J., at Philadelphia last Dec. 14.

In announcing the fight had been made, the Garden said Tuesday Giardello will receive a guarantee of $50,000 or 40 per cent of the gross receipts. Tiger will collect $15,000 or 20 per cent of the net receipts.

South Eyes 5th Straight In All-Star Grid Contest

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Some of the finest scholastic gridders in the state clash here Friday in the 20th annual North-South All-Star Football Game.

At least 15,000 spectators are expected to witness the action at Fawcett Stadium when the Rebels, coached by Bob Lewis of Wyoming, Ohio, gun for their fifth consecutive triumph.

The Yankees, guided by Earle Bruce of Massillon, are determined to break the hex and even the over-all series, which shows the Southerners enjoying a 9-8-2 advantage.

The Northerners haven't won the summer spectacular since 1960 when Leo Strang, the Kent State mentor who then coached at Massillon, led the Yanks to an 18-8 victory.

The contest shapes up as a test of Yankee offensive power against the stalwart defenders of the South.

The two teams started workouts 10 days ago. More than 400 coaches crammed into Canton this week for the annual coaching clinic, held in conjunction with the All-Star fray.

The North boasts a trio of outstanding quarterbacks, including Brian Dowling, 190-pound star from Cleveland St. Ignatius.

The Rebels have a top passer in quarterback Bill Long of Dayton Stebbins and one of the leading backs in the Buckeye State in Steubenville Central Catholic's Buster Yannon.

Gallagher's Downs Globe In 8-4 Win

Gallagher's Market eliminated Globe Brick from the Chester Softball League tournament with an 8-4 decision.

John Clendenning was the winning pitcher scattering seven hits while Bill Talbot gave up six safeties in defeat.

Eight of Gallagher's players scored a run each and Stoddard knocked the only extra base hit for the winners when he hit a double.

Hancock Savings will meet league champion Chester Merchants at 8:45 p. m.

Entries are arriving for the invitational tournament scheduled to start Aug. 23. Deadline for entries is Aug. 19.

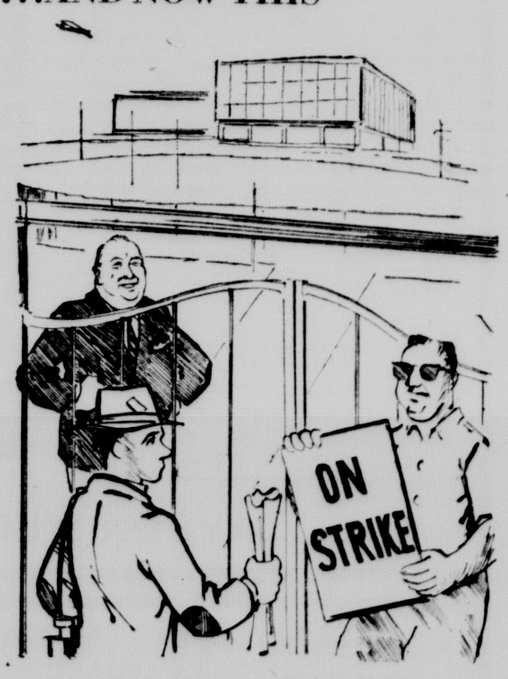
The "Hardy Handicappers" are our Faithful Patrons who face . . .

THE RAIN

THE SNOW

THE ELEMENTS

...AND NOW THIS



In recent days a pall has settled over our Happy Valley . . . a cloud punctuated by stentorian demands, injunctions, vituperations and other opprobrious terms. "Recognition" is the battle cry on one side; "never" is the pronouncement from within the hallowed gates.

Thru it all our "Hardy Handicappers," who have uncomplainingly braved frostbite, torrential rains, sleet and thunder showers of cyclonic proportions, brushed snowflakes from their form and program and sweltered in equatorial like heat in order to better ascertain the capabilities of various steeds, have now in recent days a new obstacle to overcome and overcome they have in the same dashing style that has characterized their vanguishing of other circumstances adverse to their desire of pursuing the fascinating sport, sometimes referred to as the "improvement of the breed."

This new and strange set of circumstances has produced a term new to the life of the Horse Handicapper, it is "Labor Dispute." This term has arbitrarily thrown into a vocabulary studded with such etherial gems as "got 4 in 49," "moves up in the mud" and that most electrifying phrase in any language "They're Off"!

It seems to signify the egomania of men and is characterized by the bumbles of management and billingsgate of the teamster's pickets. There is the oratory of the council, judicious rumbles from the law, demands and counter-demands of the contending parties; but none of this has been able to daunt these "Hardy Handicappers" from continuing to attend and give their attention undividedly, although sometimes erringly, to the real problem at hand. "What's the double gonna be, can Beautiful Bud move up in the mud." The relevance and magnitude of these questions have demanded and continue to receive the attention of those that Waterford Park proposes to honor. We propose, in short, a Hardy Handicapper's Night, giving recognition where it is rightfully due.

Mele Is Cautious Type, Won't Admit Anything

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm ready for the World Series if the World Series is ready for me."

That's the closest persistent reporters came to getting Manager Sam Mele to acknowledge today that his speeding Minnesota Twins were riding on a non-stop express to the American League pennant.

Not even Tuesday night's 7-3 triumph over the New York Yankees, which boosted the Twins' first place lead over Baltimore to 8½ games, could induce Mele to abandon his calculated caution. It was Minnesota's sixth straight and 14th victory in the last 17 games.

"We've still got a long way to go," he protested. "The next three weeks are going to be rough. During that span we play the Yankees six more times, Detroit seven, Cleveland four and Chicago three. The pennant could be decided then."

Only a catastrophic collapse on their part could prevent the transplanted Twins from capturing their first pennant since 1933 when they were known as the Washington Senators. And judging from Tuesday night's performance, that is not about to happen.

Led by Zoilo Versalles, their flashy shortstop, the Twins literally ran the Yankees into the ground. They forced the once flawless Yankee defense into errors and took advantage of every lapse.

Versalles reached base against Whitey Ford in the first inning when Phil Linz fumbled his grounder, and with a daring piece of base-running, scored all the way from first as Rich Rollins stretched a hit to left field into a two-bagger.

Tony Oliva followed with a line single to center and the Twins had a 2-0 lead before Ford had retired his first batter.

The Yankees tied the score 2-2 in the seventh, but the Twins scored five runs after two were out in the eighth to wrap up the decision.

Mickey Mantle's home run in the bottom of the inning proved to be nothing more than a statistic. It was his 16th of the season and 470th of his career.

"We've got a pretty good lead," conceded Mele afterwards. "They've got to catch us now."

Would you say the World Series was a step closer, Sam? "Well," he said grinningly, "it would be a good three-way parlay for me. My wife is expecting our fifth child around that time and our new home in Quincy, Mass., will be finished around that time . . . but hold on, we've still got a long way to go . . ."

Giardello, Tiger Bout On Oct. 21

NEW YORK (AP) — Middleweight champion Joey Giardello is confident he will beat Nigeria's Dick Tiger again in their Oct. 21 title fight at Madison Square Garden.

"I don't think Dick can change his style and his style suits me," said Giardello Tuesday. "He likes to come in and I like a fighter to come to me."

Giardello, a counter-puncher, outboxed Tiger in dethroning the Nigerian at Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 7, 1963. In his only defense since, the 35-year-old champion from Cherry Hills, N.J., outpointed Rubin Carter of Paterson, N.J., at Philadelphia last Dec. 14.

In announcing the fight had been made, the Garden said Tuesday Giardello will receive a guarantee of $50,000 or 40 per cent of the gross receipts. Tiger will collect $15,000 or 20 per cent of the net receipts.

South Eyes 5th Straight In All-Star Grid Contest

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Some of the finest scholastic gridders in the state clash here Friday in the 20th annual North-South All-Star Football Game.

At least 15,000 spectators are expected to witness the action at Fawcett Stadium when the Rebels, coached by Bob Lewis of Wyoming, Ohio, gun for their fifth consecutive triumph.

The Yankees, guided by Earle Bruce of Massillon, are determined to break the hex and even the over-all series, which shows the Southerners enjoying a 9-8-2 advantage.

The Northerners haven't won the summer spectacular since 1960 when Leo Strang, the Kent State mentor who then coached at Massillon, led the Yanks to an 18-8 victory.

The contest shapes up as a test of Yankee offensive power against the stalwart defenders of the South.

The two teams started workouts 10 days ago. More than 400 coaches crammed into Canton this week for the annual coaching clinic, held in conjunction with the All-Star fray.

The North boasts a trio of outstanding quarterbacks, including Brian Dowling, 190-pound star from Cleveland St. Ignatius.

Dave Foey, a 225-pound tackle from Cincinnati Roger Bacon, anchors a tough Southern line.

The Rebels have a top passer in quarterback Bill Long of Dayton Stebbins and one of the leading backs in the Buckeye State in Steubenville Central Catholic's Buster Yannon.

Gallagher's Downs Globe In 8-4 Win

Gallagher's Market eliminated Globe Brick from the Chester Softball League tournament with an 8-4 decision.

John Clendenning was the winning pitcher scattering seven hits while Bill Talbot gave up six safeties in defeat.

Eight of Gallagher's players scored a run each and Stoddard knocked the only extra base hit for the winners when he hit a double.

Hancock Savings will meet league champion Chester Merchants at 8:45 p. m.

Entries are arriving for the invitational tournament scheduled to start Aug. 23. Deadline for entries is Aug. 19.

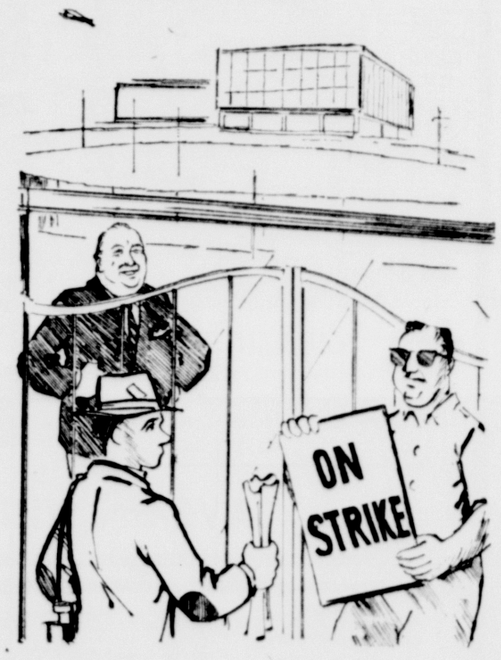
The "Hardy Handicappers" are our Faithful Patrons who face . . .

THE RAIN

THE SNOW

THE ELEMENTS

...AND NOW THIS



In recent days a pall has settled over our Happy Valley . . . a cloud punctuated by stentorian demands, injunctions, vituperations and other opprobrious terms. "Recognition" is the battle cry on one side; "never" is the pronouncement from within the hallowed gates.

Thru it all our "Hardy Handicappers," who have uncomplainingly braved frostbite, torrential rains, sleet and thunder showers of cyclonic proportions, brushed snowflakes from their form and program and sweltered in equatorial like heat in order to better ascertain the capabilities of various steeds, have now in recent days a new obstacle to overcome and overcome they have in the same dashing style that has characterized their vanguishing of other circumstances adverse to their desire of pursuing the fascinating sport, sometimes referred to as the "improvement of the breed."

This new and strange set of circumstances has produced a term new to the life of the Horse Handicapper, it is "Labor Dispute." This term has arbitrarily thrown into a vocabulary studded with such etherial gems as "got 4 in 49," "moves up in the mud" and that most electrifying phrase in any language "They're Off"!

It seems to signify the egomania of men and is characterized by the bumbles of management and billingsgate of the teamster's pickets. There is the oratory of the council, judicious rumbles from the law, demands and counter-demands of the contending parties; but none of this has been able to daunt these "Hardy Handicappers" from continuing to attend and give their attention undividedly, although sometimes erringly, to the real problem at hand. "What's the double gonna be, can Beautiful Bud move up in the mud." The relevance and magnitude of these questions have demanded and continue to receive the attention of those that Waterford Park proposes to honor. We propose, in short, a Hardy Handicapper's Night, giving recognition where it is rightfully due.

In all the tumult attending current demands for recognition from other quarters Waterford Park submits that the worthy ones are the Hardy Handicappers who have made horse racing the number one Spectator Sport in the country and in furtherance of this have set aside Thursday, August 12 as Hardy Handicapper's Night.

Swimmer, 12, Establishes World Record

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Karen Muir, a timid, 12-year-old swimmer from South Africa, came up with the most glittering performance ever by an athlete her age Tuesday — a world record in the 110-yard backstroke at the British Swimming Championships.

Miss Muir became the youngest competitor, either male or female, on record to break a world mark in a major sport with her time of 1:08.7 in a girls class preliminary heat. She did not enter the senior event.

"Karen has the greatest potential of any swimmer in the world," South African Coach Alex Bulley said of the shy, 111-pound youngster who took up swimming three years ago to help build her confidence. "There is no limit to what she can do."

Miss Muir bettered by eight-tenths of a second the pending world record set only two weeks ago by 17-year-old Linda Ludgrove of London. "I'm an ex-champion at 17," Miss Ludgrove said after watching the record performance.

The listed world mark is 1:09.8, set by Jill Norfolk of Britain in April, 1964.

Norris McWhirter, British editor of Books and Records, said the only other 12-year-olds who have come close to matching Miss Muir's achievement were Sonja Henie, who won her first world figure skating title at 12, and Bernard Malivoire, 12-year-old coxwain for France's gold medal-winning coxed-pairs crew in the 1952 Olympic Games.

Noble Victory Is 1-9 Choice In Futurity

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Noble Victory is the prohibitive 1-9 morning line choice for the $122,236 Yonkers Futurity Trot Thursday night and Yonkers Raceway was granted permission by the New York State Harness Racing Commission Tuesday to eliminate show betting on the race.

A series of minus pools during the last several weeks, amounting to nearly $20,000, prompted Yonkers officials to limit betting to win and place only.

Noble Victory, favored to win the triple crown of trotting, comprising the Yonkers Futurity, Hambletonian and Kentucky Futurity, is part of a three-horse entry. Noble Victory, who will be driven by Stanley Dancer, is bracketed with Egyptian Candor and Marengo Hanover.

Nine 3-year-old trotters will start, but because of the entry, there will be only seven betting interests.

Noble Victory has won 23 of 24 starts and has a 16-race winning streak going

Swimmer, 12, Establishes World Record

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Karen Muir, a timid, 12-year-old swimmer from South Africa, came up with the most glittering performance ever by an athlete her age Tuesday — a world record in the 110-yard backstroke at the British Swimming Championships.

Miss Muir became the youngest competitor, either male or female, on record to break a world mark in a major sport with her time of 1:08.7 in a girls class preliminary heat. She did not enter the senior event.

"Karen has the greatest potential of any swimmer in the world," South African Coach Alex Bulley said of the shy, 111-pound youngster who took up swimming three years ago to help build her confidence. "There is no limit to what she can do."

Miss Muir bettered by eight-tenths of a second the pending world record set only two weeks ago by 17-year-old Linda Ludgrove of London. "I'm an ex-champion at 17," Miss Ludgrove said after watching the record performance.

The listed world mark is 1:09.8, set by Jill Norfolk of Britain in April, 1964.

Norris McWhirter, British editor of Books and Records, said the only other 12-year-olds who have come close to matching Miss Muir's achievement were Sonja Henie, who won her first world figure skating title at 12, and Bernard Malivoire, 12-year-old coxwain for France's gold medal-winning coxed-pairs crew in the 1952 Olympic Games.

Noble Victory Is 1-9 Choice In Futurity

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Noble Victory is the prohibitive 1-9 morning line choice for the $122,236 Yonkers Futurity Trot Thursday night and Yonkers Raceway was granted permission by the New York State Harness Racing Commission Tuesday to eliminate show betting on the race.

A series of minus pools during the last several weeks, amounting to nearly $20,000, prompted Yonkers officials to limit betting to win and place only.

Noble Victory, favored to win the triple crown of trotting, comprising the Yonkers Futurity, Hambletonian and Kentucky Futurity, is part of a three-horse entry. Noble Victory, who will be driven by Stanley Dancer, is bracketed with Egyptian Candor and Marengo Hanover.

Nine 3-year-old trotters will start, but because of the entry, there will be only seven betting interests.

Noble Victory has won 23 of 24 starts and has a 16-race winning streak going

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Why are wealthy parents so stingy with their money? I have friends whose parents are loaded yet they don't give their kids a dime just because they are over 21. They seem to think just because they raised their kids and put them through college that's enough.

The children are not bums or loafers. They are respectable hard-working citizens. They make a decent living but they work like slaves to do it. In the meantime their parents live like royalty. They'll never be able to spend all their money if they live to be 150.

Why don't rich parents give their kids money now — when they can use it, instead of waiting till they die and they pay the government a big chunk in inheritance taxes?

Please publish your answer. Maybe it will loosen up some tight-fisted old fogies.—K.C.M.

Dear K.C.M. Wealthy parents don't owe their children fistsful of money. You say your friends are respectable and making a decent living. If they are self-respecting as well they would refuse to be subsidized by their parents.

Unearned money can be a curse—a crippling influence that robs individuals of initiative and fills them with guilt. Each of us knows a bright and capable man who was denied the satisfaction of making it on his own because his father handed him a bundle. This "robbing by giving" technique often results in bitter resentment on both sides —and I'm foursquare against it.

Too Young To Wed

Dear Ann: I've lived on a farm for 23 years. All my life I've been taking care of animals and I know a great deal more about animals than the average person.

My fiance was born in the city. He does not know nearly as much about animals as I do. The problem is this: George says when a horse is born he has full grown legs. He says the legs get heavier and stronger but not longer. I know he is wrong but he won't listen. We argue about this all the time.

Do you think this is a sign we won't be able to get along after we are married? If we can't agree on such a small matter how will we manage the big important problems?—NAGATIVE REACTION.

Dear Nag-ative: Horses are NOT born with full grown legs. Anyone who has seen a colt beside his mother should be able to figure this one out.

You don't say how old you are but you both sound like 10-year-olds. It's pointless to argue about something that can be easily settled by an authority — so pointless that I suggest you are too darn young (emotionally, for sure) to even be thinking about marriage.

Life Sentence

Dear Ann: Five months ago our neighbors were having marital problems. I made the big mistake of taking sides. The day they separated the wife came over and called me a meddlesome old witch and suggested that I had my eye on her husband. She ended her tirade by screaming, "If you had kept your big nose out of our business we could have worked things out."

Now the husband is pestering me to death and I can't get rid of him. He drops over here when he knows my husband is not at home which must look bad to the neighbors. When he telephones me just to chat I have to pretend it is my brother calling and this makes me very uncomfortable.

How can I get him to leave me alone? — CANADIAN CATASTROPHE.

Dear Canadian: If you really want to be left alone two sentences, delivered with conviction, will do it. Sample: "I don't want to see you or hear from you again. Consider this goodbye permanent."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Law On Parochial, Private Pupil Transportation Signed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes signed a law Tuesday requiring public transportation of parochial and private school pupils.

The statute provides for county or regional coordinators to administer the program under the state department of education.

Sponsor estimated the new law will add 68,000 pupils to the 900,000 now bussed to public schools.

Aug. 15, 1966 is the earliest date set for operation of bus routes established by coordinators.

The state budget for the next two years carries nearly $4 million to pay the increased transportation costs.

The legislative enactment was among a score signed by the governor.

Inquiries have been made to the secretary of state about a voter referendum on the bus law.

Others signed, effective Nov. 9, will:

Require sequestering of jurors in death penalty cases.

Eliminate $50,000 limit on state construction of roads in state parks and historical sites.

Authorize the Ohio Youth Commission to employ specialists.

Empower the superintendent of insurance to examine Blue Cross plans.

Create a board to supervise state printing contracts.

Establish a method for settling disputes over ownership of land claimed by the state.

Authorizes youth commission to make grants to counties from $5 million fund for county youth facilities.

For Fiscal Year

UMW Welfare, Pension Benefits Hit $114 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Mine Workers Welfare and Retirement Fund said Tuesday it paid out $114,578,976 in pensions, medical care and other benefits in the fiscal year ended June 30.

The payments to coal miners and their families brought the total paid by the fund since it was started in 1948 to more than $2 billion.

Under liberalized rules that went into effect Feb. 1, nearly 6,500 new pensioners were added to the rolls for the biggest increase in 10 years, the fund's annual report said.

Expenditures for the year, with administrative costs added, were shown as $118,892, 434, with administrative costs representing 3.6 per cent of that total.

Total income of the trust fund from coal industry royalty payments and investments was $145,118,774, the report said. The unspent balance in the fund June 30 was $140,248,140.

Payments to 66,721 retired miners came to $62,093,241.

The retirement rate was lowered from 60 to 55 Feb. 1 and monthly payments increased from $75 to $85. Rules were also liberalized to permit eligibility of miners with 20 years service in any period, instead of 20 years within a 30-year period.

The increase in the amount of pensions was the first since they were cut from $100 to $75 a month in 1961 because of a sharp slump in the coal industry.

Over the 19-year history of the fund, 113,036 pensioners have received $1,022,415,435, the report said.

In the past fiscal year, hospital and medical care expenditures totaled $48,816,359, bringing the total paid since the fund began to $803,916,294 for miners and their families.

Funeral expenses and widows and survivors benefits totaled $3,627,781 during the year for 10,062 widows, orphans and other survivors of miners.

Mine disaster benefits of $41,593 were paid to the families of 122 miners killed or seriously injured in mine accidents.

The fund is maintained as a separate entity from the union.

Economy Has Variation From Its August Pattern

NEW YORK (AP) — The economy is displaying some variations from its usual August pattern this year. It's striding ahead in some lines that traditionally take a siesta. And even in some of those fields where the hot weather is bringing a slowdown, there are marked differences this summer.

The differences are what the soothsayers are eyeing as they seek to guess what lies ahead for this fall and also for the bigger question mark of early 1966.

Employment this summer has increased beyond seasonal expectations. A record 75 million Americans have work. That hardly adds up to the summer slowdown that a few months ago was taken for granted in some quarters. The employment jump could forecast an even better autumn than once seemed likely.

Businessmen continue to pile up inventories. They have already added $4.4 billion to their stocks so far this year, compared with a $4-billion increase for all of 1964. Some of this buildup is because business looks so good and because turnover is so fast that big stocks are needed. But some of the inventory pileup could spell trouble later. And that is being closely watched and assessed.

Steel output has risen to its highest level in five weeks. More striking is the contrast with August a year ago. Production is running 15 per cent higher now. Of course, there's a reason that is far from an unmixed good. In the steel industry this August is unusual because steel users are taking no chances of being caught short if there's a strike after Sept. 1. And if there isn't, the steel mills may have a letdown this fall.

Auto production is slowing down now. The changeover in models is halting production lines later this year than usual. So the figures this August won't mean much when compared with those of last.

August is proving a big month in other industries. New orders are beginning to pour in for some of the makers of military hard goods. And the August buildup in the war in Viet Nam apparently spells increased activity in many lines, both durable and nondurable, in the months ahead.

Businessmen also are boosting their plans for future spending for new plants and equipment. The Viet Nam War expansion seems to have changed few plans, and may be inciting new ones.

August may see the Congress voting larger appropriations for the military. This could help assure economic growth in the months ahead, although it also might mean the dimming of hopes for another federal tax cut next year.

For Fiscal Year

UMW Welfare, Pension Benefits Hit $114 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Mine Workers Welfare and Retirement Fund said Tuesday it paid out $114,578,976 in pensions, medical care and other benefits in the fiscal year ended June 30.

The payments to coal miners and their families brought the total paid by the fund since it was started in 1948 to more than $2 billion.

Under liberalized rules that went into effect Feb. 1, nearly 6,500 new pensioners were added to the rolls for the biggest increase in 10 years, the fund's annual report said.

Expenditures for the year, with administrative costs added, were shown as $118,892, 434, with administrative costs representing 3.6 per cent of that total.

Total income of the trust fund from coal industry royalty payments and investments was $145,118,774, the report said. The unspent balance in the fund June 30 was $140,248,140.

Payments to 66,721 retired miners came to $62,093,241.

The retirement rate was lowered from 60 to 55 Feb. 1 and monthly payments increased from $75 to $85. Rules were also liberalized to permit eligibility of miners with 20 years service in any period, instead of 20 years within a 30-year period.

The increase in the amount of pensions was the first since they were cut from $100 to $75 a month in 1961 because of a sharp slump in the coal industry.

Over the 19-year history of the fund, 113,036 pensioners have received $1,022,415,435, the report said.

In the past fiscal year, hospital and medical care expenditures totaled $48,816,359, bringing the total paid since the fund began to $803,916,294 for miners and their families.

Funeral expenses and widows and survivors benefits totaled $3,627,781 during the year for 10,062 widows, orphans and other survivors of miners.

Mine disaster benefits of $41,593 were paid to the families of 122 miners killed or seriously injured in mine accidents.

The fund is maintained as a separate entity from the union.

Economy Has Variation From Its August Pattern

NEW YORK (AP) — The economy is displaying some variations from its usual August pattern this year. It's striding ahead in some lines that traditionally take a siesta. And even in some of those fields where the hot weather is bringing a slowdown, there are marked differences this summer.

The differences are what the soothsayers are eyeing as they seek to guess what lies ahead for this fall and also for the bigger question mark of early 1966.

Employment this summer has increased beyond seasonal expectations. A record 75 million Americans have work. That hardly adds up to the summer slowdown that a few months ago was taken for granted in some quarters. The employment jump could forecast an even better autumn than once seemed likely.

Businessmen continue to pile up inventories. They have already added $4.4 billion to their stocks so far this year, compared with a $4-billion increase for all of 1964. Some of this buildup is because business looks so good and because turnover is so fast that big stocks are needed. But some of the inventory pileup could spell trouble later. And that is being closely watched and assessed.

Steel output has risen to its highest level in five weeks. More striking is the contrast with August a year ago. Production is running 15 per cent higher now. Of course, there's a reason that is far from an unmixed good. In the steel industry this August is unusual because steel users are taking no chances of being caught short if there's a strike after Sept. 1. And if there isn't, the steel mills may have a letdown this fall.

Auto production is slowing down now. The changeover in models is halting production lines later this year than usual. So the figures this August won't mean much when compared with those of last.

August is proving a big month in other industries. New orders are beginning to pour in for some of the makers of military hard goods. And the August buildup in the war in Viet Nam apparently spells increased activity in many lines, both durable and nondurable, in the months ahead.

Businessmen also are boosting their plans for future spending for new plants and equipment. The Viet Nam War expansion seems to have changed few plans, and may be inciting new ones.

August may see the Congress voting larger appropriations for the military. This could help assure economic growth in the months ahead, although it also might mean the dimming of hopes for another federal tax cut next year.

'How Come None's Been Started?'

'School Of Nonchalance'

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — "How come," said my friend, "nobody has started a School of Nonchalance?"

Come again?"

"A School of Nonchalance," he said again. "Some place where guys like me can learn to be casual about things that are hard for us — but that other people do easily."

I commented that Robert Benchley or some other major league wit once said the same thing. Seems no matter how hard he tried, the humorist never could learn to say "Hi," the way others managed to toss it off.

"Same with me," said my friend. "I don't smoke, but when I'm out with the guys, I light up to be with the group. But somehow it always comes off as if I were holding a poisoned dart."

"Doesn't seem much of a problem," I muttered — becoming self-conscious for the first time about the way I held my cigarette.

"But it is," he said, warming to the subject. "take escalators. I go into a store. Stout old ladies are carrying end tables on escalators. They just saunter aboard. To me they look like the 13 steps to the gallows, and I trip every time.

"We take a trip to Mexico or wherever. The guidebooks, the seasoned travelers — everybody — tell you that you are expected to haggle in the market. That the natives are disappointed if you don't. But I just can't do it.

"At a restaurant, the waitress never glares at other people when they complain their steak is medium, rather than rare. But I ask for a fork and she glares at me because I'm not the debonair type.

The hors d'oeuvres on the plate in front of us were getting low.

"Other people can take the last anchovy off without feeling embarrassed," he said. "But it's a chore for me."

And with an acute look of embarrassment he took the last one—just as I was reaching for it, nonchalantly.

Price Increase Taking Hold In Steel Industry

NEW YORK (AP)—A price increase affecting about 20 per cent of the market has taken hold in the steel industry.

Six major producers, including United States Steel and Bethlehem Steel, have revised extra charges on most steel sheet products.

The bulk of these products are sold to automakers and other large steel users.

The action by the top steel producers will increase net prices for many quantities of steel sheet and strip. The changes, involving hundreds of varieties in products, tend to make larger orders more attractively priced.

Joining U. S. Steel and Bethlehem were Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland Steel Co.

The first Florida - bred horse ever to run in the Kentucky Derby was Needles, in 1956. He won, and went on to take the Belmont Stakes.

Past Commander Pin Given Boso By Post 4

Continuing a custom of 30 years, a past commander's pin was presented to Charles Boso at the meeting of American Legion Post 4 Monday night at the Siff building.

The post also made a cash gift to Harold Taylor in appreciation of his services as adjutant last year.

Ray Cunningham, commander, reported for the Veterans City Council and the post agreed to make its quarters available for the meeting of the council's auditing committee on Sept. 15.

Because of Labor Day, there will be no meeting Sept. 6, it was announced. The next meeting will be Monday night.

Expansion By Kroger Slated In Carolinas

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Kroger Co., the nation's third largest food retailer, announced plans Tuesday for a major expansion in North and South Carolina.

Kroger now operates 15 food stores in the two states. Plans call for 20 to 30 additional stores within the next three years. Additional stores are leased and under construction already in Hickory and other cities of North Carolina.

Kroger now operates 1,435 retail food stores in 24 states, primarily in the south and midwest.

Testing Of Equipment Due At Chester Plant

Plans for testing equipment at the new sewage plant in Chester were discussed at a meeting Monday night of the Chester Water and Sewage Board.

Representatives of the Cirrone and Vaughn engineering firm of Wheeling announced that testing will begin next week, and that the plant itself is completed, with the exception of a few minor connections to be made.

The plant has been constructed as the result of findings and recommendations made by West Virginia agencies in a program which calls for clearing water pollution.

It was announced that another helper for the Water and Sewage Department will be employed and that applications will be accepted prior to the next meeting Sept. 13.

The board authorized one employe to attend a five-day school at West Virginia University sponsored by the West Virginia Health Department for water works employes.

The superintendent reported on the water meter situation and said that installations are proceeding on schedule.

Members of the board include Mayor Harry Abrams, chairman; Charles Kology, secretary; Jack Allison, treasurer; Don Hissam, Russell Davis, Richard Lee and Walter McSwegin.

Attys. James Jordan and Edwin Flowers are legal advisers.

Clay Will Add About $900,000 To Cost Of Dam

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—Water logged clay will add about $900,000 to the cost of a new federal flood control dam across a branch of the Mahoning River near here.

Col. James E. Hammer, Pittsburg district Army engineer, said the clay lays under about 1,000 feet of the 9,900-foot dam and acts like a sponge, causing the structure to sink.

The engineers will have to drill wells to remove the water from the clay so the structure will settle within two months instead of slowly over a period of years.

The additional work will not prevent the dam from being completed on schedule. It's estimated cost is $6,998,000.

Ray J. Myers, Akron Official, Quits Post

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — City signal Superintendent Ray J. Myers, accused of taking commissions on radio equipment sold to the city, resigned Tuesday.

Myers' attorney said the 64-year-old official was quitting for health reasons.

Myers went on sick leave Aug. 2 after an Akron Beacon Journal story alleged he had received five per cent commissions from Radio Corporation of America on radio equipment bought for the city on his recommendation.

Myers, who has been a city employe for more than 38 years, denies having received any money from RCA.

Clay Will Add About $900,000 To Cost Of Dam

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—Water logged clay will add about $900,000 to the cost of a new federal flood control dam across a branch of the Mahoning River near here.

Col. James E. Hammer, Pittsburg district Army engineer, said the clay lays under about 1,000 feet of the 9,900-foot dam and acts like a sponge, causing the structure to sink.

The engineers will have to drill wells to remove the water from the clay so the structure will settle within two months instead of slowly over a period of years.

The additional work will not prevent the dam from being completed on schedule. It's estimated cost is $6,998,000.

Ray J. Myers, Akron Official, Quits Post

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — City signal Superintendent Ray J. Myers, accused of taking commissions on radio equipment sold to the city, resigned Tuesday.

Myers' attorney said the 64-year-old official was quitting for health reasons.

Myers went on sick leave Aug. 2 after an Akron Beacon Journal story alleged he had received five per cent commissions from Radio Corporation of America on radio equipment bought for the city on his recommendation.

Myers, who has been a city employe for more than 38 years, denies having received any money from RCA.

Dear Friends,

Benefits may be lost to the family for lack of knowledge. If the deceased was covered by Social Security, his beneficiary is eligible for a benefit—likewise the family of a war veteran with active service. Some trade unions and fraternal organizations provide survivor benefits. Your funeral director can assist you to learn of and apply for various benefits to which the survivors may be entitled.

Respectfully,

Harry L. Martin

Grave Of President Taft To Be Improved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army plans improvements at the grave of President William Howard Taft in Arlington National Cemetery.

Rep. Jackson E. Betts, R-Ohio, said Tuesday his recent house speech complaining of neglect of the grave had brought assurances from army officials that his remarks had "generated both interest and action."

He said the planned improvements include renovation of the turf surrounding the grave when weather permits, a crushed gravel walkway to the grave lot and signs and maps at the cemetery bearing directions to the site.

In his seven years of coaching at Alabama, Paul Bryant has won 39 games, lost only nine and tied four. His all-time coaching record is 151-50-13.

Cross Is Dedicated 'To Glory Of God'

MOUNT LYN LOWRY, N.C. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham has dedicated a 80-foot steel cross "to the glory of God" atop this 6,280-foot peak near Waynesville.

The cross is lighted and is visible 30 miles in all directions. The cross was erected last year by Gen. and Mrs. Sumter L. Lowry in memory of their daughter, Lyn.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Close The Past After The Punishment

After a child has been punished, let the past be a closed book to be remembered against him no more. We parents need to pray for a bit of the Divine in us then. "As far as the east is from the west, so far hath be removed our transgressions from us." In 1930, I wrote in my book, "The Modern Parent": "As soon as his wrong behavior has been disapproved; as soon as punishment has ended, we shall complete the sentence which had not been finished, go on with the joke we had been about to tell, and act in every way as if nothing out of the ordinary had happened.

Dr. Garry Myers

"The more serious the offense, the harder we shall try within the next several hours or several days to help the child get his attention upon approved activity and to enjoy his successes; the more also shall we try to make him feel that we really care for him and wish to prove ourselves fit to be esteemed by him.

—:—

"SO TO act toward our children calls for vigorous effort on our part. Victory means a hard, steep climb; but we know that it is worth the struggle."

As parents we are prone to bring up some past wrong of the child after he has been punished and to surround him with an atmosphere of his being in disgrace.

For example, when a neighbor drops in and compliments Jimmy, 5, his mother may spoil the compliment by saying that Jimmy is bad sometimes and only half an hour before had to sit in a chair for being naughty.

Just before dinner Jean, 10, was punished for an ugly deed. During the dinner the family were almost silent. Nobody smiled. When Jean looked up at her grandmother she met no cheery word or smile as usual. Her brother seemed to talk differently. Her baby sister said, "Jean bad girl." Even the dog seemed to feel that all was not well.

THAT DINNER hour should have been a brighter, happier one than usual in order to help Jean profit most from the punishment she received before dinner.

Often after a child has been punished and has served a sentence (for example: sitting for 20 minutes unamused in a chair) the parent will make the child promise not to repeat the offense for which he was punished. Or the parent will go into a long lecture on why the child was punished.

If the punishment immediately followed the offense, and if the parent has been consistent, the child already knows why he was punished. If he has any doubts in the first place, why punish him at all?

To make him promise, when the punishment has ended, never to repeat the offense, is not desirable. What else can he do but promise? If he fails to keep the promise his problem will grow complicated.

MAKE THE punishment so certain and decisive that the child naturally and surely will connect it with the deed for which he was punished.

My bulletins, "How to Teach Child Meaning of No," Love and Restraint" and "A Parent's Prayer," may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Medicare And Social Security

Health Benefits For The Needy

By JOHN TROAN
NEA Special Writer

The health benefits provided by the new Social Security Medicare law have been likened to a three - layered cake.

The basic care is what people call "Medicare." With funds collected from Social Security taxes, it offers certain hospital, nursing home and other health benefits to persons 65 and older.

Ninth In A Series

Layer No. 2 is the supplemental health insurance program which provides additional benefits, including coverage of regular doctor bills, on an optional basis to persons past 65 who agree to split the $6-a-month premium with Uncle Sam.

—:—

THE THIRD layer offers free health benefits to the needy and the near - needy. It embraces what is now known as the Kerr-Mills program of "medical assistance for the aged" as well as health benefits available to regular recipients of public assistance (welfare).

This free care is financed jointly by the U. S. Treasury and the states. In some cases counties and local communities also chip in money.

All states provide health benefits for recipients of "old-age assistance," a form of relief available to generally needy persons past 65. In addition, all but six states — Alaska, Georgia, Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio and Texas — have put into effect so-called Kerr-Mills programs to care for the "medically indigent".

"These are persons past 65 who aren't poor enough to rate regular welfare checks yet can't afford to pay their sick bills.

In effect, the Kerr-Mills programs amount to "medical relief." They are administered by state, county and city welfare agencies, and they have nothing to do with Social Security as such.

—:—

PROGRAMS for the "medically indigent" vary from state to state. All provide some hospital care. Some also cover certain doctor bills, some drugs, some care in a nursing home or the patient's own home and even such things as eyeglasses and false teeth.

Eligibility rules also differ. For instance, up to now, in some counties of Maryland an elderly person with an income exceeding $1,080 a year couldn't qualify but in Louisiana he might have an annual income as much as $3,000 and still get "medical assistance."

The ceiling on assets also varies. So does the definition of assets.

Examples: Massachusetts disregards an elderly person's life insurance policy in figuring his assets but most states calculate the cash surrender value. California discounts any auto needed for transportation "regardless of market value" but Idaho specifies a "popular-priced car" and Hawaii sets a flat $400 limit. Iowa exempts "tools or equipment necessary for pursuit of an occupation," and Colorado discounts $200 worth of "working animals."

—:—

STATES STILL may set their own rules concerning assets. But Congress now has jiggled the law to encourage states to drop fixed income ceilings and to consider, in determining a person's need, only income "actually available."

Thus, a state wouldn't count non - existent income a woman is supposed to be getting from a runaway husband or reluctant relative.

Nor could a grown son or daughter be required to pay for an elderly parent's health care, as some states now demand.

However, if you draw "medical assistance" a state still could place a claim against your property — so as to get its money back after you and your spouse die, and all your children grow up.

At least 18 states and the District of Columbia have such a "recovery" provision.

Effective Jan. 1, 1966, the same health benefits offered to "medically indigent" persons past 65 may be extended by a state to certain other individuals under 65 who would ordinarily qualify for the welfare rolls except for the fact that, when they aren't sick, their incomes or assets exceed the specified ceilings.

This includes children under 21 and some of their parents; the blind, and persons who are totally and permanently disabled.

And by Jan. 1, 1970, minimum standards will be applied to all such welfare - type, free care programs.

Every state which implements such a program will have to offer some hospital benefits, some nursing home care, some laboratory and X-ray services, and some coverage of doctor bills. Beyond this, any state may add almost any "extras" it wishes—and can afford.

Because these programs vary so much, and will be in a state of flux for some time to come, the best way to find out if you qualify for any such benefits is to check with your nearest public assistance (welfare) office. Your hospital or county medical society also may be of help.

You Can Have A Honey Of A Figure

To turn bulges into bygones, get with exercise. Teeners, you inherit your frame and the tendency to be short or tall. When you add padding, the fatty deposits go on in the family pattern. But wait, only excess food goes into fat. And bulges stem from a lack of exercise.

Ida Jean Kain

The best possible beauty routine is to team exercise with good slimming nutrition. Regard exercise as the magic by which you can find a beautiful figure beneath the fat. Come on, nothing ever happens, but you can make it happen!

—:—

TACKLE stretch-bend-swings with enthusiasm. Hold the contraction to a count of eight, breathing freely. By this plan you increase the overload on the muscle, slim down, and tone up faster. That's isometric exercise.

To get a lift, turn on the music. But swing to your own lyrics. You want a neat, sweet waist. All right, s-t-r-e-t-c-h, centering the stretch through the middle, chanting: "Stretching makes for a will-owy waist." Pull slim, h-o-l-d. For good measure, repeat twice more, always holding.

Follow through with a side-bend and, as you bend, get the word-picture — slim, supple, lissome. Bend to the other side and hold, chanting: "Lithe, limber, love-ly." Hold at the end of the bend to a slow count of eight, for this is toning. You can have what you want and picture.

If hips ruin the fit of shorts and a straight skirt — swing! Position: Lying on the left side, head pillowed on arm, have both legs straight down. Brace with palm of right hand on floor in front of chest.

ACTION: Swing briskly forward with right leg, knee straight, and swing vigorously rearward, and again forward. Hit a rhythm, and on the second swing rearward — hold. Repeat a couple of times to the rhythm of "swing - to - slim-the - derriere". . .hold. Change sides, swing again.

To firm the thighline, make wide circles from the hip with top leg. . .same starting position. Circle 12 slow counts; reverse action, 12 counts. Change sides, repeat.

What about sports? Wonderful! If you swim, then really swim, doing a dozen double lengths of a 40 foot pool, daily if possible. Or, play tennis, bowl, hike or bike. Dancing? Perfect exercise! Do the watusi or any active teen - ager number. Dancing is fun and slimming, provided you skip the sweet snacks between.

BREAKFAST, 440 Calories, Citrus fruit or juice, cereal, hot or cold, (¾ cup), whole milk, 8 oz., sugar, rounded tsp., toast, 1 slice, (lightly buttered). Luncheon, 400 Calories, toasted cheese sandwich (cheese, 1 oz. sl.), bread, (2 slices), tomato, glass of skim milk and fresh peach.

Potential Profitable Market Seen In Big A-Power Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — An industry spokesman told a Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee Tuesday that large central station nuclear power plants represent a very large and potential profitable market.

Henry C. Nickel, general manager of the Atomic Energy Division of the Allis - Chalmer manufacturing company, also said his company believes "that a substantial market will exist for nuclear power stations in the future."

Nickel testified at hearings by the committee into progress made in generating electric power with atomic energy the past two years.

Opening the hearings, Chairman Chet Holifield, D-Calif., said he hoped that various industry witnesses would discuss candidly their "accomplishments, problems and plans."

John W. Simpson, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric Corp., told the committee that "we believe we have reached that point in time when a large percentage of electric utility management cannot afford to overlook nuclear power in expansion plans, which is a real achievement when we consider the relatively short span of time since the atom was first split to produce electricity."

However, Simpson said, there are a number of "real challenges ahead."

"In the commercial electric power field," he said, "we must give increased attention to public acceptance and licensing, if we expect the predicted growth in nuclear power to materialize.

"Merchant shipping and desalting present challenges and opportunities equally as great as those in electric power generation. I am satisified that these challenges can be met by concentrated efforts, and by a continuing cooperation between government and industry."

$50,000 Sought In Assault Case

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A Steubenville man has filed a $50,000 damage suit against five men he accused of assaulting him for not signing a union card.

Niles C. Landingham, 31, filed the action in Common Pleas Court Tuesday against Harold Matthews Jr., 26, Paul Skaggs, 23, and James D. Bedwareg, 25, all of Rayland; Robert Muntz, 26, of Dillonvale, and James Oiler, 33, of Steubenville.

Landingham works at the Barium & Chemicals, Inc., plant, idled since July 30 when the United Mine Workers struck. He said the assault occurred the morning of Aug. 2. The five men were arrested last week on assault and battery charges brought by Landingham.

Senate Unit Approves Maxwell As U.S. Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee has approved President Johnson's nomination of Robert E. Maxwell as U.S. district judge for West Virginia's northern district.

Final confirmation must come from the full Senate, but this step is usually considered a formality after committee approval. The committee action came Tuesday.

Maxwell, a 41-year-old Democrat, is an attorney in Elkins, W.Va. A native of South Bend, Ind., he served from 1961 to 1964 as U.S. attorney for the northern district.

He will replace Judge Charles F. Paul of Wheeling, W.Va., who died of a heart attack.

THE EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Three Actors Cross Over

Does starring in a TV commercial hurt an actor's chances for doing the finer things—like becoming the hero of a Western or a situation comedy on TV? Obviously not, if we judge by what has happened to Don Adams, Philip Carey and Barbara Feldon.

Hal Humphrey

Ex-night club comic Adams has been pumping gas in a series of regional commercials. In California's potato- chip war the 6-foot-3 Carey poses as an iron-jawed cowboy whose TV commercials peddle potato chips.

Last, but sexier, Miss Feldon is the brunette vamp seen petting a bored-looking tiger skin rug while she describes what a mark she is for guys who use her sponsor's hair dressing.

BOTH ADAMS and Miss Feldon begin starring next month in a hot new comedy called "Get Smart," which has him as Maxwell Smart (Secret Agent 86) and her as Secret Agent 99.

In the previous season's TV rating race Adams played a dumb but confident hotel detective (Glick) on the Bill Dana Show. When that series was canceled he was happy to land in the gasoline commercial.

"I did six spots for just Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago and Texas to run only two months on TV. I thought they were good commercials, and I guess the gasoline company did, too, because I was offered $60,000 to do some more nationally," says Adams, sadly.

BY THE TIME that offer came he already had signed with NBC and David Susskind's Talent Associates to star in "Get Smart," and as Adams says, "How can you have Maxwell Smart selling gas?"

Adams probably was lucky his current string of commercials was to wind up its run before the new TV series started. Miss Feldon's future on "Get Smart" was shaky for a while because of a conflict of interest between a compnay which makes the male hair dressing she was selling from that tiger rug, and the sponsor whose money is sunk in "Get Smart" and who did not savor the idea of her selling products of a competitor.

"Everything is okay now," reports Adams. "Barbara Feldon she's in."

IN THE CASE of Phil Carey, who debuts as Texas Ranger Capt. Parmalee in a new NBC Western series titled Laredo, he was winding up a movie ("The Great Sioux Massacre") and heard about the potato chip people's looking for a virile Western type.

"The money came in handy for an operation needed in my family, but let's not talk about that," Carey says, referring to the commercial.

He was relieved when Newsweek last month did not use his name but reported only that a "cowpoke" was the sponsor's fighter in the big TV potato-chip war. Carey sighed more deeply when Lew Wasserman, boss man at Universal City where Laredo is filmed, overlooked the image his head Texas Ranger had created with a name like he had in the commercials.

-:-

"HE WAS VERY NICE about it, and I'm grateful," adds Carey, who has done a TV pilot film every year since 1958 without much luck. In 1959-60 he had one season of playing private eye Philip Marlowe, and before that he was one of the heroes in "Bengal Lancers" (one season).

In "Laredo," which was to be "Streets of Laredo" until Universal discovered that title did not translate so well in German and Japanese, Neville Brand plays a sloppy Ranger and Capt. Parmalee (that's Carey) constantly is chewing him out.

If there's a moral in any of this account, it's simply that actors today are living in a very commercial world, and when they aren't selling their talents they can and do sell almost anything else—including gasoline, hair dressing and potato chips.

Inventor Dies At 78

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Jesse William Shields, 78, inventor of the low-pressure tire for farm tractors, died Monday after a long illness. Shields, a research engineer and government consultant, also is credited with invention of rubber-brushed tracks used on U.S. and British tanks in World War II, a bullet-hole repair unit, and floats to transport tanks in the Okinawa landing in 1945. He was born in Jackson County, Kan.

Car Rolls Into River, Ohio Man, 39, Drowns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Louis Basso, 39, drowned when his car rolled into the Scioto River near suburban Hilliard, where he resided.

Basso was the brother of Nick Basso, news director of Columbus television station WTVN-TV.

The largest white marlin on record was taken off Miami Beach, Fla., by L. F. Hooper on March 20, 1938. It measured 8 foot 8 and weighed 161 pounds.

COOLING IT IN ROME. When in Rome, do as the Romans do—cool it when the sun blazes down. This area, inside the famous Colonnade at St. Peter's Square, is a perfect spot to take a reading break while the rest of the city is roasted.

Slack, Bandleader Of '40s, Dies At 55

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Freddie Slack, bandleader and jazz pianist who pleased audiences with boogie-woogie tunes in the 1940s, is dead at 55.

His landlady found the musician's body in his apartment Tuesday night. Death was attributed to natural causes.

Slack popularized "Mr. Five by Five" and "Cow Cow Boogie" and had arranged for such orchestras as Jimmy Dorsey's, Ben Pollack's and the Will Bradley-Ray McKinley group.

He was a native of La Crosse, Wis.

Ohioan Faces Charges Of Abandoning Wife

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Two Akron policemen have gone to Miami, Fla., to bring back George Wesig, a father of five who disappeared two years ago while swimming near Cedar Point.

Wesig, 37, faces charges here of abandoning his then-pregnant wife. FBI agents arrested him in Miami July 30, and he has remained in custody for lack of $10,000 bond. He has waived extradition and agreed to return to Ohio.

One of the oldest golf courses in the South was laid out at Sarasota, Fla., in 1888 by Col. Hamilton Gillespie. It had nine holes.

Ex-Member Of Harvard Faculty

Johnson Names Simpson To U.S. Tax Court Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles R. Simpson, President Johnson's nominee for the U.S. Tax Court, is a cheerful, balding former law school faculty member who likes baseball, historical novels and hard work. He's been blind since early boyhood.

In a way, Simpson explained in an interview, his handicap had its advantages.

"You know that you have to do not as well, but better," he said. "So you work harder, try harder, to do a better job. I've tried to do that all my career.

"We've all had problems to overcome in life at one time or another. It's a question of whether you're going to let this thing beat you."

The President announced Simpson's nomination to the 16-member court Tuesday. Simpson, 44, now heads the legislation and regulations division in the general counsel's office of the Internal Revenue Service.

His government career began in 1952 when he left a faculty post at Harvard University Law School to join the IRS. He moved steadily up the ladder. Last May, he received the Justice Tom C. Clark Award for outstanding career lawyers in federal service.

An IRS job he'll never forget was one of his first, Simpson said. "It dealt with the deductability of losses caused by termites.

"For a time," he added with a laugh, "I was the termite expert around the IRS."

It was an event leading up to that first government job, Simpson said, that was the turning point of his career.

"There was some question about whether I should be employed," he related. "The person who had the power decided that I should." That person was Charles Davis, then chief counsel of the IRS and now a Chicago attorney.

"When they hired me, they asked my wife if she'd go to work there, too. She said yes." Simpson's wife, Ruth, trained as a nurse, thus began a new career as her husband's private secretary.

She also manages to find an hour or so every night to read historical novels to her husband in their spacious apartment near the Pentagon. "I manage to read what I need to" by the Braille system, Simpson said. "You have to be selective."

Simpson was born June 16, 1921, with partial sight, the only son of a Danville, Ill., policeman.

"I had enough sight to go to public schools, but lost it all when I was 13 or 14," he said. He then transferred to the Illinois School for the Blind in Jacksonville, Ill.

"I got a good basic education there and in 1940 I went to the University of Illinois."

Simpson went on to the university's law school, where he rolled up the best academic record there in 25 years. He later served three years in the Illinois General Assembly before going to Harvard.

Three Actors Cross Over

Does starring in a TV commercial hurt an actor's chances for doing the finer things—like becoming the hero of a Western or a situation comedy on TV? Obviously not, if we judge by what has happened to Don Adams, Philip Carey and Barbara Feldon.

Hal Humphrey

Ex-night club comic Adams has been pumping gas in a series of regional commercials. In California's potato- chip war the 6-foot-3 Carey poses as an iron-jawed cowboy whose TV commercials peddle potato chips.

Last, but sexier, Miss Feldon is the brunette vamp seen petting a bored-looking tiger skin rug while she describes what a mark she is for guys who use her sponsor's hair dressing.

BOTH ADAMS and Miss Feldon begin starring next month in a hot new comedy called "Get Smart," which has him as Maxwell Smart (Secret Agent 86) and her as Secret Agent 99.

In the previous season's TV rating race Adams played a dumb but confident hotel detective (Glick) on the Bill Dana Show. When that series was canceled he was happy to land in the gasoline commercial.

"I did six spots for just Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago and Texas to run only two months on TV. I thought they were good commercials, and I guess the gasoline company did, too, because I was offered $60,000 to do some more nationally," says Adams, sadly.

BY THE TIME that offer came he already had signed with NBC and David Susskind's Talent Associates to star in "Get Smart," and as Adams says, "How can you have Maxwell Smart selling gas?"

Adams probably was lucky his current string of commercials was to wind up its run before the new TV series started. Miss Feldon's future on "Get Smart" was shaky for a while because of a conflict of interest between a compnay which makes the male hair dressing she was selling from that tiger rug, and the sponsor whose money is sunk in "Get Smart" and who did not savor the idea of her selling products of a competitor.

IN THE CASE of Phil Carey, who debuts as Texas Ranger Capt. Parmalee in a new NBC Western series titled Laredo, he was winding up a movie ("The Great Sioux Massacre") and heard about the potato chip people's looking for a virile Western type.

"The money came in handy for an operation needed in my family, but let's not talk about that," Carey says, referring to the commercial.

He was relieved when Newsweek last month did not use his name but reported only that a "cowpoke" was the sponsor's fighter in the big TV potato-chip war. Carey sighed more deeply when Lew Wasserman, boss man at Universal City where Laredo is filmed, overlooked the image his head Texas Ranger had created with a name like he had in the commercials.

-:-

"HE WAS VERY NICE about it, and I'm grateful," adds Carey, who has done a TV pilot film every year since 1958 without much luck. In 1959-60 he had one season of playing private eye Philip Marlowe, and before that he was one of the heroes in "Bengal Lancers" (one season).

In "Laredo," which was to be "Streets of Laredo" until Universal discovered that title did not translate so well in German and Japanese, Neville Brand plays a sloppy Ranger and Capt. Parmalee (that's Carey) constantly is chewing him out.

If there's a moral in any of this account, it's simply that actors today are living in a very commercial world, and when they aren't selling their talents they can and do sell almost anything else—including gasoline, hair dressing and potato chips.

Inventor Dies At 78

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Jesse William Shields, 78, inventor of the low-pressure tire for farm tractors, died Monday after a long illness. Shields, a research engineer and government consultant, also is credited with invention of rubber-brushed tracks used on U.S. and British tanks in World War II, a bullet-hole repair unit, and floats to transport tanks in the Okinawa landing in 1945. He was born in Jackson County, Kan.

Car Rolls Into River, Ohio Man, 39, Drowns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Louis Basso, 39, drowned when his car rolled into the Scioto River near suburban Hilliard, where he resided.

Basso was the brother of Nick Basso, news director of Columbus television station WTVN-TV.

The largest white marlin on record was taken off Miami Beach, Fla., by L. F. Hooper on March 20, 1938. It measured 8 foot 8 and weighed 161 pounds.

Slack, Bandleader Of '40s, Dies At 55

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Freddie Slack, bandleader and jazz pianist who pleased audiences with boogie-woogie tunes in the 1940s, is dead at 55.

His landlady found the musician's body in his apartment Tuesday night. Death was attributed to natural causes.

Slack popularized "Mr. Five by Five" and "Cow Cow Boogie" and had arranged for such orchestras as Jimmy Dorsey's, Ben Pollack's and the Will Bradley-Ray McKinley group.

He was a native of La Crosse, Wis.

Ohioan Faces Charges Of Abandoning Wife

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Two Akron policemen have gone to Miami, Fla., to bring back George Wesig, a father of five who disappeared two years ago while swimming near Cedar Point.

Wesig, 37, faces charges here of abandoning his then-pregnant wife. FBI agents arrested him in Miami July 30, and he has remained in custody for lack of $10,000 bond. He has waived extradition and agreed to return to Ohio.

One of the oldest golf courses in the South was laid out at Sarasota, Fla., in 1888 by Col. Hamilton Gillespie. It had nine holes.

Ex-Member Of Harvard Faculty

Johnson Names Simpson To U.S. Tax Court Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles R. Simpson, President Johnson's nominee for the U.S. Tax Court, is a cheerful, balding former law school faculty member who likes baseball, historical novels and hard work. He's been blind since early boyhood.

In a way, Simpson explained in an interview, his handicap had its advantages.

"You know that you have to do not as well, but better," he said. "So you work harder, try harder, to do a better job. I've tried to do that all my career.

"We've all had problems to overcome in life at one time or another. It's a question of whether you're going to let this thing beat you."

The President announced Simpson's nomination to the 16-member court Tuesday. Simpson, 44, now heads the legislation and regulations division in the general counsel's office of the Internal Revenue Service.

His government career began in 1952 when he left a faculty post at Harvard University Law School to join the IRS. He moved steadily up the ladder. Last May, he received the Justice Tom C. Clark Award for outstanding career lawyers in federal service.

An IRS job he'll never forget was one of his first, Simpson said. "It dealt with the deductability of losses caused by termites.

"For a time," he added with a laugh, "I was the termite expert around the IRS."

It was an event leading up to that first government job, Simpson said, that was the turning point of his career.

"There was some question about whether I should be employed," he related. "The person who had the power decided that I should." That person was Charles Davis, then chief counsel of the IRS and now a Chicago attorney.

"When they hired me, they asked my wife if she'd go to work there, too. She said yes." Simpson's wife, Ruth, trained as a nurse, thus began a new career as her husband's private secretary.

She also manages to find an hour or so every night to read historical novels to her husband in their spacious apartment near the Pentagon. "I manage to read what I need to" by the Braille system, Simpson said. "You have to be selective."

Simpson was born June 16, 1921, with partial sight, the only son of a Danville, Ill., policeman.

"I had enough sight to go to public schools, but lost it all when I was 13 or 14," he said. He then transferred to the Illinois School for the Blind in Jacksonville, Ill.

"I got a good basic education there and in 1940 I went to the University of Illinois."

Simpson went on to the university's law school, where he rolled up the best academic record there in 25 years. He later served three years in the Illinois General Assembly before going to Harvard.

Junior Editors Quiz on WOODEN SHOES

QUESTION: Why do people still wear wooden shoes in Holland?

ANSWER: In the warmer countries around the Mediterranean Sea, the arrival of civilization brought sandals as an improvement on bare feet. But sandals were too flimsy to be practical in Europe, where civilization soon spread. The barbarians had wrapped their feet in skins, but these, again, were not good for farmers working in muddy fields. It was discovered that wood gave a drier shoe than leather. Sometimes leather tops were nailed on wooden soles. But the working peasants of Europe, especially those of France and the Low Countries, found that a shoe cut out of solid wood was warm, dry, long-lasting and economical. In France, such shoes were called "sabots," in Holland, "klompen." As cheaply manufactured shoes appeared, many French peasants gave up their sabots, but the Dutch hung on to their klompen, and often use them today. In this low-lying country, with so much mud and water underfoot, klompen keep the wearers' feet dry and warm. They are rarely used indoors. When coming inside, a Dutchman takes off his klompen and lines them up neating by the door.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: This would be a nice picture to color. Put bright colors on the boat and child's dress and blue in the sky and water. The klompen should be a light cream color.
